NAZIS AFRAID OF BRITISH RESOURCES

War Consequences Reflected Upon By German Statesmen

Premier Chamberlain in Outspoken Reference to Germany—Financial Resources Would Prove Factor in Long Conflict

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in an outspoken reference to Germany, told a luncheon audience today that Great Britain's financial power was a curb on German statesmen when they thought of war.

The prime minister said:

"We may take it that when German statesmen—I will not say the German people—reflect on the possible consequences of a conflict, if ever a conflict should arise between our two countries, they think not only of our armaments, but of our great financial resources, which in a war of long duration might well prove to be a deciding factor.

"It is in this sense which is always with us and which I am sure is in itself a great influence in preserving the peace of the world."

Mr. Chamberlain's brief reference to Germany seemed to indicate a somewhat stronger line toward the Nazi leadership since the German ambassador and other Nazi representatives boycotted his Tuesday night speech in which he rebuked the German press for its attack on Earl Baldwin.

Observers were quick to notice that today Mr. Chamberlain differentiated between German statesmen and people. In his Tuesday speech he reiterated his belief the German and British people never wished to go to war again—the main point of the joint declaration he and Chancellor Hitler signed at Munich Sept. 30.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke today at a luncheon at the House of Commons to celebrate the elevation to the

REFUNDING OF PUBLIC DEBTS CANADA NEED

Alternative Is Bankruptcy and Loss To Investors, Hepburn Says

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—The vital need of building national defences makes imperative a refunding of public debts in Canada, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said tonight in an Empire Club address. The alternative to refunding was national bankruptcy and loss to investors of the principal of these debts.

"What are we going to do about debts? Let us face it. We have to have a national refunding scheme, provincial, federal, and municipal. It has been done in other countries. Yes, in Britain, in Australia."

HAD NOTHING BETTER

Advocates of monetary reform were called crackpots and nitwits but their detractors had nothing better to offer.

"My desire is to save our principal—to pay back for value received but we won't be able to do that much longer if we drift along. Three or four years from now, when the country is facing bankruptcy, as my friend the Globe and Mail has observed, well wonder why we didn't do something. Let us have the courage to do what is necessary.

LIVING IN NEW ERA

"We're living in a new era. When I was at the Pacific they were worrying about national defence. It is time to take stock and put our house in order because we're going to face the need of national defence.

"The democracies should stand together. In my opinion three nations have agreed on conquest of the world and the rest of us must stand together and resist the inroads of dictators.

ONLY ONE CANADA

Mr. Hepburn said he recently had been accused of a conspiracy "to rip this country asunder." Canada was worth saving and he was bent on saving it, not destroying Confederation. "I believe in one Canada, not nine Canadas."

Ontario's attitude before the Rowell Commission for the maintenance of provincial rights and revenues was a proper stand. She had not gone to the commission cap in hand, demand concessions from the federal government as had other provinces.

ONTARIO'S BUSINESS

When these other provinces made demands on the federal treasury, it was Ontario's business because Ontario contributed nearly half of federal revenues.

There were subventions on Alberta coal, maritime fish, western wheat, maritime potatoes and other things. To all these Ontario contributed.

At Sault Ste. Marie was a great industrial concern struggling to get along. Its chief competitor, located

DR. TELFORD CHOSEN MAYOR OF VANCOUVER

C.C.F. Member Has 2,145 Vote Margin Over Present Incumbent

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15. — Dr. Lyle Telford, Vancouver's mayor-elect, said today he did not intend to resign his seat in the British Columbia legislature where he is the C.C.F. representative for Vancouver East.

Dr. Telford, who ran as an independent in the mayoralty contest because C.C.F. party rules do not permit their candidates to hold two elected offices at the same time, said the party's provincial executive and legislature members would meet him tonight to discuss his position.

No C.C.F. candidate opposed the mayor-elect.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15.—Dr. J. Lyle Telford, a member of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation group of seven in the British Columbia legislature, will hold office for the next two years as mayor of Vancouver, but he will probably have only one C.C.F. alderman on his eight-man city council.

The 49-year-old physician contested yesterday's civic election as an independent candidate, but undoubtedly it was his long and prominent connection with the C.C.F. in British Columbia that won him election over Mayor George C. Miller, seeking re-election, and four other mayoralty candidates.

Mayor Miller ran as a candidate of the Non-Partisan League whose principal campaign argument is "keep politics out of civic government."

The mayoralty race was the only one the League lost. Non-Partisan

UNIFICATION OF RAILWAYS IS OPPOSED

Rail Workers Repeat Opposition to Proposal Before Government

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—Opposition to unification of Canada's railway systems were repeated to the Dominion government by spokesmen for the railway transportation brotherhoods today.

Deputation met Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the cabinet and presented a brief outlining the position of the railway workers.

The stand taken by the railwaymen before the senate committee last parliamentary session was reaffirmed. It was disclosed that on January 9, the workers representatives will confer with the managements of the railways "to give consideration to the so-called railway problem." Recommendations arising out of this meeting will be placed before the government.

AMENDMENTS URGED

The railwaymen's representatives urged amendments to the British North America Act, requesting particularly "an early change that will

HUGE FRENCH ARMS BUDGET IS PRESENTED

By CHARLES FOLTZ
Associated Press Foreign Staff

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Premier Edouard Daladier's national defence cabinet, warning Italy and Germany that France would fight to protect her empire, presented to parliament today the greatest arms budget since the great war.

A total of nearly 40,000,000,000 francs (about $820,000,000) for the country's armed forces was distributed in various parts of the ordinary and extraordinary budgets. Finance Minister Paul Reynaud said this sum represented 65 per cent of the estimated income for 1939 or 60 per cent of the actual 1938 government income.

GOEBBELS AGAIN VOICES DEMAND FOR COLONIES

BERLIN, Dec. 15 — Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels today gave new voice to Germany's colonial desires.

Addressing road workers in connection with the opening of the 3,000th kilometre of Germany's new super-highways, Goebbels said:

"In Germany nearly 140 persons live on one square kilometre." That would be about 360 persons to a square mile.

"Germany is not to be blamed for this narrow space within which to live," Goebbels went on. "Although it has widened (by annexation of Austria and Czecho-Slovakia Sudetenland) it is not sufficient to supply Germany's essential needs.

"But the foreign press denies Germany's right to have colonies."

Premier Answers Critics Of Actions During Crisis

PREMIER KING DECLINES TO PROLONG ROW

No Further Comments On Hepburn Charges Until Solons Meet

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—So far as Prime Minister Mackenzie King is concerned he will have no further comments at present on the quarrel with Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario until he consults with his supporters in the House of Commons and the Senate soon after parliament meets Jan. 12.

The Prime Minister gave this answer last night after a cabinet council when asked if there were any new developments in the hostilities which have brought a sharp exchange of statements since last Saturday between the federal government and Mr. Hepburn.

Mr. Mackenzie King had no announcements of any kind to make at the close of the second cabinet council this week. Final draft of the itinerary for the Canadian tour of King George and Queen Elizabeth has not yet been returned from London where it was sent for Their Majesties' approval.

Last Monday, after his quarrel with the Ontario premier had been brought out in the open by Labor Minister Norman Rogers at the nomination meeting of Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, in Port Arthur, Mr. Mackenzie King said the

Colinton Man Reports $600 In Wallet Missing While Walking

Police redoubled their efforts to discover whether a slickfingered big-time gang of pickpockets is at work in Edmonton. Today, for the second time within a week, they received complaints that large sums of money had mysteriously disappeared from the pockets of farmers who were spending a few hours in the city.

Latest arrival to be reported Wednesday afternoon by H. E. Cook, of Colinton, who stated he had lost a wallet containing $600 from his overcoat somewhere between the corner of 101 street and 101 avenue and the McLeod building.

Tells Delegation Why Parliament Was Not Called

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today challenged a large delegation of workers to say he would have "acted wisely" if he had summoned the Dominion parliament during the European crisis last September. In company with 10 of his cabinet ministers, the prime minister received the annual legislative recommendations of three labor organizations—the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the railway transportation brotherhoods and the Federation of Catholic Workers.

Reference was made in the congress brief to a resolution adopted at the annual convention last summer, urging the prime minister to call parliament to deal with the European crisis.

Replying briefly to the submissions, the prime minister referred particularly to that recommendation: "I would like most of all to impress upon you, the government in all its decisions must take into consideration every aspect of every problem," he said.

GOOD REASONS

"The government is responsible not only for what it does but for what it does not do. The government has a knowledge of these matters which its critics cannot possibly have. You must realize failure of the government to act, even when under great pressure, is because of what seem to be good reasons.

"A year before we were criticized for not calling parliament when the Brussels conference was studying the situation in China." The facts subsequently disclosed indicated, the prime minister said, how carefully the government was required to act.

WHAT IS BEST

"The present administration, if it appears to be acting with a greater show of caution than some would like, is doing that because all its actions must be based upon what is best for the welfare of all citizens in every walk of life and in the interests of Canada as a whole," he said.

Mr. King told the delegation he and his ministers would give careful consideration to all recommendations.

LABOR PUTS PROGRAM UP TO CABINET

Wide Range Of Problems Canvassed In Presentation

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—A wide range of labor problems was canvassed today when a deputation from the executive council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada presented its annual legislative program to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of the cabinet.

Opposition to lowering the standard of unemployment relief was voiced, institution of a 30-hour week, particularly on government-controlled work, was advocated, and a number of recommendations were made concerning seamen's affairs.

JOBLESS INSURANCE

The government also was asked to introduce a national unemployment insurance scheme at the next session of parliament and not wait until the consent of all the provinces had been obtained.

An investigation into group insurance schemes "which hinder rather than help in securing jobs" also was requested.

PLANNED WORK

The delegation said:

"On all sides can be seen the opportunity for planned work, such as the elimination of level railway crossings, extension and improvement of the highways—especially

FEBRUARY 2 IS DATE SET FOR NEXT SESSION

Legislature Opening Day is Tentatively Approved By Cabinet

Tentative date of the opening of the next legislative session, selected by the cabinet, is Thursday, Feb. 2, it is learned on reliable authority. This date is about one week earlier than the opening last year, while the previous year the session commenced on Feb. 25.

With a view to opening on Feb. 2, the government has sent out a call for early preparation of estimates.

Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, stated that he had sent out regular sheets on which estimates are prepared, to the various departments, with the request that the first draft be returned to him by Jan. 1.

EARLY BUDGET

In view of this, it is expected the cabinet later will be able to confirm the tentative date and bring in the budget early in the session.

The government, it is learned, is also moving toward having its legislative program prepared early so that it, along with the budget, will be ready for discussion immediately the debate on the speech from the throne is disposed of. This, it is hoped and expected, will shorten the session.

One of the main features of discussion at the session, will be the report of the special redistribution committee now sitting under the chairmanship of Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs.

RELIEF REPORT

Another report to be discussed will be that of the special relief committee under the chairmanship of A. V. Bourcier, S. C., Lac Ste. Anne, which held sittings during the interval since the last regular session.

The work of the oil and gas conservation board and its activities under the legislation passed at the recent special session, also will loom large in the sessional activities.

The session will be preceded by the customary Social Credit members caucus, it was learned.

PLAN GROUP TO FIGHT CANCER FOR EDMONTON

Nominating Committee Is Named At Meeting Held Wednesday

Preliminary steps toward the formation of a branch of the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer in Edmonton were taken at a meeting in the Macdonald hotel Wednesday night at which nearly 60 persons were present.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Gordon Gray, John Blue, F. D. Sutcliffe, Dr. Richard Proctor and Dr. Harold Orr, was named by Chairman H. A. Dyde and approved by the meeting. They are to select a list of nominees to be presented for election to the executive at an organization meeting to be held in the near future.

CLAIMS 12,000

Speakers on Wednesday evening's program were Dr. J. S. McEachern, Calgary, president of the Canadian society; John Blue, of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. W. H. McGuffin, of Calgary, both members of the Grand Council of the society.

"The steadily mounting death toll of cancer—last year it claimed the lives of nearly 12,000 Canadians — has aroused alarm, not only among medical men, but among the public as well," Dr. McEachern stated in explaining

Manion Opposes Immigrants While Canucks Jobless

New Tory Leader Objects to Admission of Refugees From Germany—Takes Same Stand as 1934

QUEBEC, Dec. 15.—Flat opposition to the admission of any immigrants to Canada while Canadians are out of work was expressed here last night by Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader. He said he had opposed admission of refugees from Germany in 1934 and took the same position now.

Government Has Faith In Empire

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The British government has complete faith in the ability of the Empire to cling together despite crisis and adversity, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

The Prime Minister was questioned by Arthur Greenwood, Labor, about Dominions Secretary Malcolm MacDonald's speech to the Constitutional Club Tuesday on the future of the Empire.

FULLY SHARE FAITH

Mr. Chamberlain said the speech reflected the Dominions' Secretary's faith in the survival of the Empire and "His Majesty's government certainly fully share that faith."

Mr. Henderson suggested the duties of the Dominions' Secretary should be confined to practical administrative problems and should not include discussion of highly hypothetical questions. But the Prime Minister replied Mr. MacDonald's was a "very brilliant, statesmanlike speech." His statement was greeted by applause.

BURST OF LAUGHTER

The incident closed in a burst of opposition laughter when Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, said many people were convinced the Empire could not possibly survive the present government.

Mr. MacDonald, in the course of his speech at the Constitutional Club, said that "even in our lifetime" the Empire might crumble to pieces." He was discussing nationalism in the Dominions.

Today, a speech to the Royal Empire Club, he said, "I do not think, despite what I am reported to have said the other day, that much greater strains have been between the Dominions and this country is needed."

He added the most substantial foundations for the commonwealth of the Dominions with Great Britain would be the investment of British capital within the commonwealth.

WELLINGTON, Dec. 15—Prime Minister Michael Savage, head of New Zealand's Labor government, today said he thought "Britain will find that, when it comes to the pinch, no one will be missing as far as the Dominions are concerned."

Interviewed concerning speculation as to the future of the Empire engaged in by Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions' secretary, in a speech at London Tuesday, Mr. Savage declared, "I don't know if there are any disloyal sentiments within the British Commonwealth, but I was always led to believe that to be within the commonwealth was to enjoy the right of self-government."

He added the most substantial foundations for the commonwealth of the Dominions with Great Britain would be the investment of British capital within the commonwealth.

Addressing his first political meeting in Quebec province as party leader, he said he wanted to stop rumors being circulated to the effect he favored immigration.

"Never have I advocated the coming of immigrants into this country from the start of this depression," he said. "But more than that, in 1934 I headed the Canadian delegation at the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva. Then, as now, many people were being driven out of Germany and I was pressed to permit refugees from Germany to come here.

SHOULDN'T ALLOW IT

"I took the position then and I take it now that so long as there are hundreds of thousands of people in this country out of work on relief, who cannot be given employment, we should not allow any immigrants to come."

Canada was a vast country with a small population and at some future time when there was abundant employment immigration might be desirable.

Addressing his first French speaking audience since he became party leader, he opened his remarks in French and amused his hearers with a story of his former constituency, Fort William.

NEVER WON VOTES

In a French community there he had always spoken in French, but had never won any votes. He wondered if the people thought he murdered the language.

"One of my greatest desires as a citizen of this province is we should always enjoy that national understanding and harmony which will make us march hand in hand toward the future as a great unit," he said.

Dr. Manion was introduced by Pierre Audet and received a prolonged ovation when he arrived. Mr. Audet hailed the return of Hon. H. H. Stevens to the Conservative party as a sure sign of victory at the next general election. He introduced Dr. Manion as the next prime minister.

After crossing Canada from coast to coast, Dr. Manion said he was convinced "our party is on the road" to winning a great victory late as we did in 1930.

Under his leadership the Conservative party would place human rights ahead of property rights in its energies to the welfare of the men and women of Canada, particularly the youth. It would be the duty of the new government his first act would be to appoint a minister of youth welfare.

In 1930, Prime Minister Mackenzie King had spoken about the number of Liberal provincial governments. Mr. King said a Liberal administration would be hard money. Actually since Mr. King came into office there had been more dishonesty than at any time in Canadian history. One had only to read the newspapers to see it.

Pick-Pocket

Wednesday and sold a quantity of registered land scrip which he received a cheque for $500. He took the cheque to a bank and endorsed it and received the money—ten $50 bills—in a wallet which contained another $100.

From the bank, with the money in a big pocket, Parker walked down Jasper avenue to 100 street, turned north on 100 street, entered the McLeod building and then walked into the elevator. Leaving the lift at the third floor, he discovered that his wallet and $600 were missing. He reported his loss to police immediately.

He told them that he could not recall having been jostled or tampered. Retracing his steps to the bank he was unable to find any trace of the wallet or anyone who had seen it.

MEETS STRANGER

Another report received by police was made by Cyril Parker last Thursday. Parker had just sold a homestead near Dawson Creek in the Peace River country and was on his way back to England. On Thursday afternoon he bought his tickets. As he stepped out of the C.N.R. office he was accosted by a stranger who asked him for a match. Then the stranger followed Parker.

Noticing that he was being followed, Inspector Parker rose to leave and placed his tickets and some of his money in the safe at his hotel. Then he reported to city detectives, that he was being followed.

Later that afternoon, after wandering around the downtown section of the city he found that about $70 that he had kept in his pocket, had disappeared. He told a Bulletin reporter that he is convinced that someone picked his pocket, and he believes that it was either the person who asked him for a match or a companion of the man.

Police are not sure whether these gems of money have just been lost or which they say seems improbable "or whether they have been "lifted" from the pockets of the men by pick-pockets, who "spot" their men at the banks, ticket-offices and other places where they show their money, and then follow them until an opportunity presents itself to steal the roll.

MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—Rt. Hon. Only woman to have held a post in the British cabinet, Miss Bondfield said this difference was "particularly noticeable" in Vancouver and Toronto, where "it appears the only one taken the slightest responsibility for the Canadian youth once he is unemployed."

candidates for the four vacant aldermanic seats, four on the park board and five on the school board, all seven C.C.F. and other opposition.

Re-elected in the election were Alderman J. Percy Wood, Alderman J. W. Cornett, Alderman Fred Crone and Alderman H. D. Wilson. Alderman H. H. Covey, Alderman Harry DeGraves, both non-partisans, and Alderman Helena Gutteridge, C.C.F. have another year in office before their two-year terms expire.

EIGHTH MEMBER

The eighth member of the council is Alderman T. H. Kirk, another non-partisan. When the votes were polled for the mayoralty contest he signified his intention to resign from the council but only the returns said his defeat by Dr. Telford would probably mean he would continue his aldermanic term for its remaining year.

Dr. Telford took an early lead in the mayoralty contest, and was only headed by Mayor Miller for a few moments when voting was one-quarter completed. Then he pulled away and finished with a plurality of 2,145 when the final revised count was made.

POLLED 17,094 VOTES

When tallying was completed, the scoreboard showed Dr. Telford with 17,094 votes, while Mayor Miller had 14,859.

The third candidate, Col. Nelson Spencer, former Medicine Hat, Alta., mayor, and one-time member of the Alberta legislature, had 8,388. Alderman Kirk, Dr. A. P. Barton, candidate of the Labor-Progressive group, 778, and Louis D. Taylor, elderly former mayor of Vancouver who served eight terms over 18 years ending in 1931, had 429.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Dr. Telford, who received his medical degree from McGill University in 1913, said during his quick campaign that he favors public ownership of utilities. After his election he said, however, that:

"No private citizen or corporation need have any fear of my administration so long as they are attending themselves and their business in a manner that is not detrimental to the good and welfare of their fellow citizens."

ALWAYS BE PROGRESSIVE

He said he will always make it his objective "To be as progressive and constructive as it is humanly possible to be."

Dr. Telford was elected to the provincial legislature in the provincial general election last year as one of two C.C.F. candidates from the two-seat riding of Vancouver East.

His principal support yesterday also came from that general area of the city—the three east wards—eastern sections. However, he also made inroads into the western section, considered before the voting to be a Miller stronghold.

NO OFFICIAL SANCTION

The doctor could not contest the election as an official C.C.F. candidate because a by-law of the provincial party organization will not permit any party member to hold two elective offices at the same time.

However, while the party did not sponsor his candidature officially, it did not enter an official ran- date against him, although it contained every other available seat.

GEN. ODLUM IS BADLY GASSED AT HOME WELL

Vice-President Of Concern Is "Out" For Twenty Minutes

CALGARY, Dec. 15—Brigadier-General Victor W. Odlum, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., of Vancouver and vice-president of Home Oil Company, and T. A. Keyes of Calgary, were unconscious for about 20 minutes late Wednesday when accidentally gassed at the Home-Millarville No. 2 well at the north end of Turner Valley.

Brigadier-General Odlum and Mr. Keyes returned to Calgary, 45 miles northeast of the valley, last night and both were reported to be little the worse for their experience.

They were with a party of 10 or 15 people at the well when it was turned in to a separator after a 24-hour test.

A flow of gas blew through the separator and the prevailing wind swept it over the group. Brigadier-General Odlum and Mr. Keys were overcome by the fumes and a driller was slightly gassed.

Cancer

the work the society was attempting to do.

"The pitiful part is that probably 50 per cent of these deaths could have been saved if the cancer had been recognized early. For most cancers are curable—they yield to surgery and certain types of treatment—but they are caught in their beginnings.

CAUSES UNKNOWN

"It is for the purpose of increasing the knowledge we have of cancer—it is remembered its causes are unknown—of spreading that knowledge to all persons, doctors and laymen, that this society, this society was formed," Dr. McEachern stated.

"When the average man and woman realizes the necessity for prompt action; when they learn that only by going to a qualified medical man when they think they begin to have fears, and when they know what to look for, then we will be able to combat cancer successfully."

Dr. McEachern pointed out that the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer and the Cancer Department of the Province of Medical Association have been formed for the express purpose of spreading knowledge and to aid in the fight against this disease which accounts for one out of every nine deaths.

John Blue spoke highly of the work the society was attempting to do and declared "The success of this movement depends upon all of us. We must help do their bit—it is up to us to do ours."

High tribute to the work Dr. McEachern has done in organizing the provincial cancer was paid by Dr. W. H. McGuffin.

"Our problem is not the control of cancer to much as the enlightenment of the people," Dr. McGuffin said. "Doctors and businessmen are joining in the fight against this scourge and it is the duty of every citizen to help."

OUTLINES WORK

He outlined the work the society intends to perform. "Speakers will be available, pamphlets and educative literature will be distributed which will contain the reports of the latest discoveries and developments."

Names of those attending the meeting were taken and listed as a preliminary roll of members in the Edmonton branch of the society.

Cancer Report Now Corrected

Asked by The Bulletin to check on a statement reported to have been made recently by Dr. P. A. Macdonald before the annual meeting of the Union of Manitoba Municipalities that "forty per cent of cancer cases were now being cured," Dr. Macdonald, medical authorities in Winnipeg replied Thursday that the report was a misinterpretation of Dr. Macdonald's remarks.

"The misinterpretation arose through the departmental figures showing that cancer in Manitoba is a reportable disease. There are 100 new cases a month reported. There are forty a month that do not die," the Winnipeg authority said.

RADIATION PHYSICIST

"The Cancer Relief and Research Institute, Incorporated, voluntary, non-profit organization under a board of trustees, but receiving grants for backing Dr. Macdonald, M.Sc., Ph.D., as the director of the Institute and is probably one of the most outstanding radiation physicists on this continent," he continued.

"His purpose in his address was to show that cancer was not necessarily fatal, that cures were being effected, but that it of course required money to combat the disease, particularly in reference to obtaining early treatment," he concluded.

in Nova Scotia, received $1,500,000 in subsidies for four days at which the Sault has to pay its share to subsidize its competitor in the maritimes.

The Hudson Bay railway was built simply to satisfy political demands in the west. A federal minister told him so. Last season, two small vessels took cargoes of wheat from Churchill.

"This year the west had sufficient political influence to force the federal government to guarantee wheat prices." Wheat consumption was falling all over the world yet Canada subsidized farmers to increase promoting its production. The guarantee would cost the federal treasury $60,000,000 or $70,000,000.

SAYS JUST POLITICS

He had been told recently by an Alberta man that near Brooks, Alberta, in addition to an irrigation scheme, to which Ontario contributed, the wheat subsidy was resulting in lands being taken out of diversified farming and turned back to wheat.

"It is politics, just politics pure and simple. It is a bid to get the votes of the prairies. But we only create a worse situation than the one we have now."

"In regard to William Lyon Mackenzie King's statement in gathering charges me with conspiracy to destroy confederation. There is no more loyal Canadian than I in this gathering. I love this Canada and am proud to know it is a link in the British Empire.

IS AN IMPERIALIST

"I am proud as a Canadian, I am an imperialist, if you want to call me that.

"Now this Mr. King who charges me with entering into a conspiracy to destroy confederation is the same gentleman who in 1930 got up in parliament and enunciated a policy that would destroy confederation than anything else that has happened. King said that a fiscal policy is vital for relief to any province with a Tory government."

"Imagine a leader like that man talking about fiscal policy. He is up to his ears on the issue of national unity."

A few scattered handclaps met his sally. "I see that there are some Tories in the audience," said the premier.

QUESTIONS POLICY OWN POLICIES

"Here we had a national leader enunciating a policy with a club. The policy was that disallowance is to be satisfactory to him. He's getting so near the five-cent piece in regard to Ontario I'm questioning my own affiliations."

Ontario was not complaining about her contributions to the federal treasury but she did resent the charge she was an exploiter of the rest of Canada.

Mr. Hepburn justified Ontario's refusal to have anything further to do with the royal commission on federal and provincial relations on the ground the federal government had imposed new taxes since the commission was named and thereby violated an understanding there would be no additional taxation pending its report.

MAINTAIN IDENTITY

The identity of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways should be maintained and the proposal for unified management should be disregarded, necessary to human and national welfare," the railwaymen said.

Appointment was urged of a committee to continue study of the whole transportation problem "until a practical and humane solution is reached." Representations should be made for a representative of railway labor on the committee.

COMPENSATION ASKED

The brief urged compensation for those men displaced from railway jobs as a result of co-operative measures or "any form of unification."

Public ownership of the Hudson Bay railway was expressed on the ground that further public expenditures to subsidize additional transport agencies which would not pay with the railways would serve only to accentuate the present railway problems.

RETIREMENT PENSIONS

The delegation asked retirement pensions be exempted from income tax and that the old age pension be made available at the age of 65, with the Dominion paying 90 per cent.

Disappointment was voiced that a Dominion system of contributory unemployment insurance had not been instituted, while the delegation solicited establishment of state health insurance.

WEST CATTLE ARE NOT FED ENOUGH GRAIN

Too Little Beef On Too Many Legs One Big Trouble Meeting Told

By CARL REINKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15—Too little beef on too many legs has been one big trouble with the Canadian cattle industry, in the judgment of A. M. Shaw, director of markets for the Dominion department of agriculture.

There has not been enough grain fed to Canadian cattle to provide reasonable level of beef quality or a sufficient regular supply of grain-finished cattle to meet the "wide demands of the domestic and export trade," Mr. Shaw declared today before the prairie markets conference.

COULD CONSUME MORE

He told the conference studying the lack of markets for western farm produce that a great deal more grain could be consumed by fewer cattle to the advantage of the industry. An increase in cattle numbers was not altogether desirable and was not necessary to a substantial increase in grain consumption, he said.

The conference advanced through three days of well-attended sessions yesterday, developing an unanimity which caused L. W. Brockington of Winnipeg to remark: "For the first time the vision of western Canada is clear and united."

HELD SIGNIFICANT

Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, called to the chair, also held it significant that men from all walks of life, even from rival political platforms, had shown such agreement on opinion.

"When the people of western Canada speak with a united voice, governments listen to us," Premier Bracken said.

While there was unanimity that western wheat producers require a substantial aid in the field of the world wheat crisis, Prof. E. C. Hope of the University of Saskatchewan declared the present subsidy unfortunate in its effect on western agriculture as a whole.

The subsidy benefitted only wheat growers and according to the size of their crop. The farmer whose crop failed or who grew coarse grain received no aid, he said during the evening session.

The obvious result would be that wheat would be sown next year "regardless of price and even next year if assistance were in the same form. Prof. Hope suggested" a grant of $1 an acre.

"However distasteful it may be to eastern Canada, the price of 80 cents a bushel at Fort William is inadequate for the Saskatchewan farmer to pay anything but a small portion of debt and leaves him unable to maintain a reasonable standard of living" Mr. Brockington asked.

"He couldn't pay any debt at that price," he said. "For a decade past the farmer of western Canada is not to be allowed to subside into a condition of peasantry. If the world is efficient, the price of 80 cents is inadequate," Mr. Brockington observed.

SUPPORT VOICED

Spokesmen for the Calgary, Regina and Saskatoon board of trade voiced their support of the conference's purpose of turning the flood-light on the actual state of western agriculture before the national gaze.

In his address today, Mr. Shaw said the big problem of securing and maintaining export markets was to produce in sufficient volume the quality and types which Canadian consumers prefer. Apparently reasonably amenable, the problem was one of finding an alternative outlet for an increased volume of grain. "Canadian cattle were "better bred than fed," he said. Some regular outlet was required for more high quality and well-finished cattle. Quality was essential in the high-type Canadian export market.

The new, more favorable entry into the United States would help solve the marketing of the 1938 surplus, Mr. Shaw declared. The cost of ocean shipping space and satisfactory ocean rates was one which transportation must solve. Canada called for more than emergency action, he said, and the government was studying the situation.

Mr. Shaw warned cattle exporters to consider the changes in supply conditions caused by the new quarterly quota in shipments to the United States.

He outlined the experimental shipments of fresh eggs to the United Kingdom during the past six months which sold in London in competition with eggs from other points and sometimes higher than the best Scotch beef.

The reception of this beef by the British buyers has been little less than remarkable and it has been stated repeatedly that the Canadian fresh beef is the best in quality and butchering seen on the British market," he said.

That market would provide a demand at prices less subject to fluctuation than other classes of beef.

Dr. W. A. Found, Dominion deputy minister of fisheries, said there was sufficient demand in the United States to absorb the fresh water fish production of both the United States and Canada's surplus.

"If these markets are to be assured," he said, "they should be simplified, unorganized and largely uninformed methods of marketing and fishing production are not good enough," he said.

Notwithstanding the "bitterly hard times" the fishermen of all Canada and the world had had in recent years, and the fact their present earnings were far too low, Dr. Found declared the trend in the industry was distinctly upward. Last year Canada's fisheries production totalled $39,000,000 of which $7,000,000 was fresh water fish.

insofar as they will encourage the natural industry, erection and repair of public buildings of various categories, reforestation and conservation projects, clearing of slum areas and provision of decent homes, both in cities and rural areas, and other projects of a like character."

Opposition to increased immigration was expressed. "We have noted that in spite of there being a large number of Canadian citizens for whom employment cannot be found, propaganda for immigration is being intensified both here and in Great Britain."

CONTINUE RESTRICTIONS

"Convinced that any influx of immigrants would only add to relief costs and complications of unemployment, we urge the government to continue existing immigration restrictions until the present unemployment and agricultural depression has been effectively dealt with."

The deputation urged an amendment to the criminal code to allow peaceful picketing during industrial disputes, and to make it an offence to deny unjustifiable to workers the right to organize.

FIVE-DAY WEEK

For the equalization of employment the delegation urged a five-day week of six hours a day without reduction of wages level. In this respect the government was asked to give the lead in Dominion contracts and works controlled by the administration. The International labor office at Geneva had approved a 40-hour week in the textile industry and the delegation urged the government to seek adoption of this in Canada.

A retirement scheme whereby persons withdrawing from employment at the age of 60 might receive the old age pension, instead of waiting another 10 years, was advocated. This should apply generally, with no deductions unless the retiring person was more than $1,000 a year, A national health insurance scheme was urged.

APPROVAL VOICED

In the matter of housing the delegation voiced approval of what had been done. However, they asked aid for the "vast number of workers who are struggling to meet payments on homes built by them prior to the depression and who are still paying a high rate of interest on loans in that connection."

Premier Duplessis Brands Plot Ridiculous

QUEBEC, Dec. 15.—Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec said last night it is "untrue" and "ridiculous" that he and Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario are conspiring to have Prime Minister Mackenzie King ousted as leader of the Liberal party.

The Union Nationale Premier, is an interview, said:

"It is untrue that there is a conspiracy between Hon. Mitchell Hepburn, Premier of Ontario, and myself in connection with the leadership or replacement of Prime Minister Mackenzie King as federal Liberal leader, and this talk is ridiculous on its very face.

SOMETHING WRONG

"There must be something wrong at Ottawa," the Quebec government leader said, when he was asked to comment on the Rogers-Howe allegation. "There are, there, at least three people who are suffering from delusions." He did not name the persons he meant.

"It seems at least illogical for men who are preaching the unity of Canada to try, by somewhat unusual talk, and because of their nightmare, to seek to bring about disunity through the grouping of provinces against Ontario and Quebec."

SINCERE WISH

"Ever since this Union Nationale government has been in power (2½ years), I am happy to say, and this in the most hearty, sincere and loyal manner, that promotion of the welfare of both provinces and the benefit of the populations of both provinces has been the sincere wish of both provinces, and this is not directed against anyone, but for the benefit of the two provinces.

"We will continue to co-operate, and also we are willing to co-operate with every other province of Canada on a fair and sound basis for the progress of Canada as a whole."

"I have the highest admiration for the very great qualities of mind of the prime minister of my friend, Hon. Mitchell Hepburn," he concluded.

Alliance Attacked As Threat To Democracy

CALGARY, Dec. 15—The Hepburn-Duplessis alliance was attacked as the main threat to democracy in Canada by speakers at a meeting here last night to open a two-day convention of the Communist party of this city.

Speakers were Alderman-elect Pat Lenihan, secretary of the Calgary Labor council, and Lawrence Anderson of Edmonton, provincial secretary of the party.

Lenihan praised the election of labor candidates in every alderman last month. "By striking a blow at reaction in Calgary we are striking a blow at the Hepburn-Duplessis alliance," he said. This alliance was the forerunner of open Fascism in Canada, he stated.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Full of Pep

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food just decays in your stomach. It just ferments. You get constipated. Harmful poisons are absorbed into the blood through your stomach and the world looks gloomy.

You need those two pounds of bile to digest and move the waste out of your system. You need something that works on the liver to get it to pour out that bile. Then you'll "feel like a million." Thousands of people have found that Carter's Little Liver Pills to get them two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they are purely vegetable. Minister Declares Any Shift on Prairies From Wheat Means Disaster

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15.—Any substantial shift on the prairies from wheat growing to other products, in an attempt to meet the world wheat crisis, would endanger the whole agricultural industry of Canada, Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan minister of agriculture, warned Wednesday in an address before the Prairies Markets conference.

An extensive shift in the west to livestock and dairy products would threaten those industries in eastern Canada, which in turn would involve a shift by eastern farmers to overproduction of fruit and vegetables, he said.

"That's why our problem should be considered as a national problem, as it affects the whole agriculture of Canada," Mr. Taggart said. "It affects the whole economy of Canada, because you can't wreck the business of half the people (engaged in agriculture) without wrecking the business of the other half."

There were various ways in which comparatively small amounts of productive effort could be diverted from wheat to other fields with general advantage but he was convinced that "the first and most persistent drive of the western farmers, and of all of the people of Canada, ought to be to sell more wheat rather than to accept a proposition that wheat acreage must be permanently restricted."

NOT SPECIALIZED

The conference was told by several speakers that prairie farmers had not specialized on any one production through accident or personal choice but because soils and climate were peculiarly adapted to wheat and better suited to it than any other production.

Extension of grasslands by retiring several million acres of the least suitable and land now sown to wheat was recommended as a first practical step. Another reduction of wheat in the black soil areas of the north and the substitution of hays and coarse grains—which would be marketed in the form of livestock—were also suggested as remedial steps.

Of the 23,500,000 acres in Canada now devoted to wheat production, however, a shift to other uses than wheat was seen for only a small fraction of the total without damaging agriculture generally throughout the country.

Mr. Taggart said by classifying the various soil zones, it would be possible to estimate more accurately possible shifts from wheat, since such changes were more likely in some soil areas than others.

MIGHT BE CHANGE

It might be assumed, he said, that farmers in the future as in the past would change their type of farming if economic advantages to them individually appeared to warrant the change.

Out of 35,000,000 acres under crops in Canada, 40,000,000 were in the prairie provinces, with the cereal crop being raised on the prairies.

The first practical possibility of taking land out of wheat production he suggested, was to return poor ary land to ranching. He estimated 1,000,000 acres would be withdrawn from present wheat areas by the methods now being applied by the prairie farm rehabilitation administration. That would mean the withdrawal of about 2,000,000 acres of land from actual cultivation.

Looking over the soil zone statistic, he noted 73 per cent of the brown soil was used for wheat, which might suggest this area offered the best opportunity for such a reduction. The opposite, however, was the case. That area was much better suited to wheat than to oats, barley or hay.

"In a considerable part of the brown soils zone, some shift to other crops other than wheat probably means a shift to other than wheat probably means a shift out of cultivation entirely," Mr. McTaggart said.

IN BLACK SOIL

Greatest chance to shift from wheat to coarse grains was in the black soil zones. Coarse grains and hay were relatively more productive there. Wheat yielded more but there was not of as high quality as wheat from the brown soil zones.

Extent of a shift there was dependent on relative prices of wheat and coarse grains, the latter being dependent on livestock prices. Though Canada had a considerable unfilled bacon quota in the British market, Mr. Taggart doubted that would solve the wheat problem.

With average production of 16 bushels an acre, one acre would provide feed for one 200-pound hog. Bacon from 2,400,000 such hogs would fill the entire bacon quota of 280,000,000 pounds.

So feeding the product of 2,400,000 acres of wheat would fill the entire quota. Half of that was already being filled, which meant a maximum of 1,500,000 acres might be taken from wheat production that way. Undue pushing of such a shift, too, would be disastrous to all hog raisers in Canada.

SHIFT SEEMS LIMITED

Another possible shift was to coarse grains to feed dairy or beef cattle, which could be increased if prices were maintained at "not too low levels." Possibilities of a shift here seemed limited, he said.

If as much as 5,000,000 acres were turned back from wheat production to grassland, it would be done either by reversion of large areas to range conditions—involving the re-establishing of families elsewhere—or percentage reduction for all wheat producers. This latter method would probably strike the larger farms hardest and these were producing wheat at the lowest cost.

Dean L. E. Kirk, dean of agriculture in the University of Saskatchewan, submitted the most justifiable subsidy would be one maintaining fertility of the soil for future generations. He endorsed the idea of feed reserves to overcome wide fluctuations in crops.

The building of such reserves might be made an integral part of government policy.

Dean Kirk urged 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 acres should be taken out of cultivation within two or three years, under compulsion if not otherwise. One difficulty in turning such sub-marginal land back to grass was the small available supply of crested wheat grass, only variety suitable, of which only 1,000,000 pounds was available. Ten times that much would be necessary to seed down 1,000,000 acres.

Jack Sutherland, representing the United Farmers of Alberta, declared the whole drought area problem was one for uniform treatment across the prairies. In Alberta one area of 8,000,000 acres now was devoid of all forms of municipal administration and three-quarters of the people had gone.

He doubted that livestock was the answer. He was a wheat man as much in livestock as he had in wheat. Irrigation was the only permanent solution along the Saskatchewan border.

Canada Can Find Ready German Market

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15—Western Canada could find a ready market in Germany for much of its surplus production if Canada was prepared to buy German goods, as provided for under the German-Canadian trade agreement of two years ago, Dr. F. H. Schneider, Winnipeg importer, said last night in a markets conference discussion.

The problem of the west was basically one of markets, he said, and markets were available if Canada would buy equal amounts of German products. Germany needed wheat and other primary products from Western Canada and Canada could obtain in Germany "everything needed in Western Canada, for home and farm, for lumbering and mining."

SEES BOYCOTT WORK

"We in Canada seem to enjoy an anti-German political and trade propaganda in newspapers, boycott meetings, sidewalk parades, which naturally must be detrimental to the trade relations of the two countries," Dr. Schneider said.

"Not only is the Canadian buyer induced to abstain from purchases of German goods, but the very fact of an impolite attitude of the Canadian public is a factor to undermine the existing German-Canadian trade relations.

"Furthermore Canada evidently does not realize to the full extent yet that a development took place in international trade which is different from pre-war conditions."

NOT IN PROPORTION

Western Canada bought, apart from purchases from England, from eastern Canada and United States, both situated agriculturally, which did not buy in proportion to western Canada purchases. This very situation he said was responsible to great degree for the present plight of western Canada as a primary producer.

"Every western farmer can be his own salesman. All he has to do is buy German goods and his goods will be sold automatically," Dr. Schneider said, suggesting a united front of western producers against the tariff wall.

"It is all right for the east to ask western Canadians to be good patriots and to help their brethren to create economically sound industries. But it is entirely wrong to ask these people to be the doubtful sake of easy profits."

Wheat Bonus Is Unfair Says Hope

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15.—This year's wheat bonus is the "most unfair" kind of bonus possible for western agriculture, Prof. E. C. Hope, University of Saskatchewan, declared last night before the prairie markets conference.

The big bonus was being given the big crop with nothing for the man with a crop failure and nothing for the grower of coarse grains, he said. "Next year the farmers will put in wheat instead of coarse grains—unless they're dumb," Prof. Hope said.

The bonus on wheat was defeating its own purpose because farmers would not feed wheat when its market price was as high as 80 cents.

Prof. Hope urged that next year, if there were a bonus, it be paid on an acreage basis. A bonus of $1 an acre would not cost any more than this year's subsidy.

(The government-guaranteed minimum price now is 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat, basis Port William).

Alberta Men Involved In Prisoner Exchange In Spanish Revolution

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—J. Taylor, secretary of the Friends of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion, said today a reported mass exchange of prisoners during the Christmas season by Loyalists and Insurgents in the Spanish war will free all but 11 Canadians held by the Insurgents.

It was reported from Hendaye, France, Tuesday that a mass exchange at Christmas truce had been launched by French, Spanish and British committees. All prisoners held by either side, under the plan, would be exchanged except in special cases.

The report listed the following Canadians as among those believed involved in the exchange: Leslie Wilson, Frank Wood and Peter Maskaluk, Vancouver; Bowen Cromwell, Charles Scanlan, George Hill, George Markowski, Michael Holicki, Nicholas Licenbiki, Manitoba; Paul Dufour, Quebec, and Percy Hilton, Ernest Miller, Nels Madsen and G. Taylor said the following Canadians known to have been prisoners of insurgents were not mentioned in the list:

George Cunningham, Robert Dickie, Toronto; Nick Prokopiuki, New Toronto; Percival Dagesse, St. Catharines; Anthony Mangotic, Schumacher, Ont.; Paul Szucsko, Delhi, Ont.; Paul Burns, Montreal; Percy James, Vancouver; John Croll, Regina; Edward Zdanauskas, Bellevue, Alta.; Sam Dobrakicky, Val d'Or, Que.; and Harry Bowzale, Athabaska, Alta.

AMBASSADOR CAN'T GO HIGHER: HE'S IN DESPAIR

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15—M. Paul-Emile Naggiar, France's ambassador to China, came into Vancouver Wednesday on his way back to Paris and displayed a facetious mood of despair to interviewers.

"I can not be anything but ambassador—till I die," said the slight little French diplomat with scanty hair and dark horn-rimmed glasses who has risen to the top of his country's foreign service in 30 years of service. He said he was despairing because he could climb no higher.

M. Naggiar, who was once the French consul-general in Montreal, is willing to talk at length of his experiences in diplomacy as he awaited the departure hour of his train for Montreal last night, but he greeted his interviewers with the plea: "No political questions please."

FRAUD CHARGED FIDELITY COMPANY: FIGHT PLEDGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — A strenuous legal struggle appeared in prospect Thursday after the securities commission filed charges of "fraud and deceit" against the Fidelity Investment Association which, officials said, has sold about $600,000,000 of securities to the public.

Officials described the case as the "biggest of its kind in S.E.C. history."

The complaint was filed in Federal District court at Detroit, where Judge Edward J. Moinet directed the concern to show cause by next Monday why it should not be enjoined from using the mails or engaging in interstate commerce.

The firm made plain at once that it would fight. Carroll Evans, vice-president, declared at headquarters of the company in Wheeling, W.Va., that he was sure it could convince the court that it should not be restrained.

The company, which has offices in 36 leading cities throughout the United States, has a staff of 2,000.

PREMIER PATTULLO AND AIDES GOING TO S. F. EXHIBITION

VICTORIA, Dec. 15—Premier T. D. Pattullo Wednesday said he intends to attend opening of the San Francisco world's fair, Feb. 28 after returning from Ottawa.

The premier and finance minister John Hart will leave early in the new year for eastern Canada to discuss provincial business matters with federal authorities.

One subject they hope to bring up is proposed construction of an Alaskan highway through British Columbia and the Yukon territory. The provincial legislature voted $25,000 for a preliminary survey of the highway route just before its session closed last week.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine, provincial mines minister, and attorney-general Gordon S. Wismer are expected to accompany the premier to San Francisco where British Columbia's exhibit is now being set up by Lloyd Craig, director of industrial and tourist development for the province.

MINIMUM PRICE SOUGHT FOR FISH OTHER PRODUCTS

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—Legislation for establishment of guaranteed minimum prices for fishing and agricultural products will be urged by the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation when parliament sits in January, W. L. Coldwell, C.C.F. member for Rosetown-Biggar, said today.

He has filed a resolution with the clerk of the House of Commons urging the government to place before parliament concrete proposals for establishment of guaranteed minimum prices for the products of the fishing and agricultural industries, "together with such legislation as may be necessary to institute co-operative or government control of packing and processing plants concerned with the primary products of agriculture and fishing."

Draft Un-American Activities Report For U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — The United States house of representatives committee on un-American activities began drafting a report to Congress today on how foreign persons said would contain specific suggestions for eliminating "subversive influence" in the country.

Chairman Martin Dies announced the committee would conclude hearings Thursday.

Summarizing testimony during four months of hearings in a broadcast address last night, Dies called on the labor department to deport promptly Communist, Fascist and Nazi aliens in the country.

Dies said the investigation had shown Nazi activities in the United States are linked with Germany and have their counterpart in movements in South America and Mexico.

SPY SITUATION IN U.S. ALARMS PEACEFUL FOLK

Sabotage Machine Is Declared Ready To Strike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. — A warning spies are setting up a "potential sabotage machine" designed to impair the United States' industrial and military efficiency in time of war came today from the investigator for the congressional committee on un-American activities.

John C. Metcalfe, who made a six-month study into activities of subversive groups for the committee, testified he believed "the spy situation in the United States is a very serious menace."

"The real aim of the American Nazi movement," Metcalfe told the committee, "is to build up in the United States a spy organization, a potential sabotage machine and a German minority. . . ."

Asserting that Germany is not the only foreign country whose nationals are engaged in such activities, Metcalfe expressed belief the United States had been placed in "a precarious position."

The committee, planning to conclude its prolonged hearings tomorrow because its funds are exhausted, heard from another witness a demand for "thorough investigation" of the United States government's continued recognition of Soviet Russia.

Toronto Leads In Collections Of Income Tax

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — Toronto with $43,621,112, led all districts in income tax collections during the first eight months of the present fiscal year. Total collections for the first eight months were $124,678,589 compared with $102,437,196 in the corresponding period the previous fiscal year.

Collections in Calgary were $1,434,709 and in Edmonton $552,065. Both were higher than last year.

Customs and excise revenue for the first eight months totalled $200,310,324 compared with $233,440,476 last year.

Toronto Jobless Get Turkey Feed Christmas Day

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — Toronto's unemployed will feast Christmas on turkey dinners with all the trimmings. The Canadian Red Cross Society announced it will donate a ton of turkeys to be served to the unemployed at all hostels operated by the city, which will contribute cranberries, plum pudding and other trimmings. It is expected 2,000 unemployed will sit down to the dinners.

ITALY PLANNING TO SPEND HUGE SUM IN 1939

Government Expenditures For Defence To Reach $526,000,000

ROME, Dec. 15—The Italian government announced Wednesday it will spend 16,000,000,000 lire, about $525,000,000, for military purposes in its next budget year. Il Giornale D'Italia, in explanation, said Italy has "interests and rights to defend."

The comment of authoritative Rome newspaper was carried in a column adjacent to that of the editorial writer, Virginio Gayda, in which he challenged French figures on the population of Tunisia, French North African protectorate.

He said French statistics were wrong in representing the French as outnumbering Italians. Gayda said Italians actually far outnumber the French and added this was the fundamental basis of "The Italian right to raise the problem of Tunisia."

(The Tunisian census of 1936 gave the protectorate's total European population as 213,208, made up of 108,068 French, exclusive of the army and naval forces from France; 94,289 Italians, 7,379 Maltese, 323 Spaniards, 454 Greeks and 2,790 other foreigners. The native population was 2,395,108.)

The military budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, represented an increase of 2,475,631,863 lire ($130,817,235) over the outlay for the current year.

CALGARY SOCREDS WILL NOT MAKE REPRESENTATION

CALGARY, Dec. 15—The Calgary Constituency Social Credit Association has decided not to make a representation before the Alberta government electoral committee, which will hear representations on the government's redistribution plans here today. The Calgary organization has not voiced its opinion regarding the Alberta Social Credit proposals favoring reduction of Edmonton's legislative seats from 25 to 21, and the present "P.R." voting system in all Alberta cities.

The Calgary Provincial Liberal Association will express any suggestion to reduce Calgary's M.L.A.'s below the present six members. Conservatives favor the present "P.R." system. Any effort to reduce Southern Alberta legislative seats in favor of Northern Alberta also is opposed Liberal association officials stated today.

What The Province Is Doing For The Unemployed

No Necessity for Pan-Handling Farm Rehabilitation for Families

SINGLE HOMELESS TRANSIENTS—Those who can qualify for relief and are physically fit, have the opportunity of taking employment on farms during the off-season (winter months) where food and shelter are provided, and each one is paid by the Senior Governments at the rate of $7.50 per month, if he remains until spring, in addition to any extra wages that may be paid by the farmer with whom he is placed.

The subsistence provided for these men is usually that which the farmer provides for his own family.

Physically unfit single homeless men are provided for either at the Old Immigration Hall or Recreation Camps, according to their special requirements.

TRANSIENT FAMILIES

Those who have drifted from the rural areas, where they were employed as agriculturalists, to the urban centres, are given a reasonable length of time to obtain work. When they are unable to do this, however, they are encouraged to acquire land in the district in which they formerly resided and where they are usually well-acquainted. If they find this impossible, the Province will provide them with vacant farm buildings, together with a few acres of land, thereby enabling them to have proper shelter and their own vegetable garden. The Province is further assisting those who show evidence of success to become wholly self-supporting, by providing a cow, chickens and a pig. Recreation and relief will, of course be continued until such time as they can provide their own living. This can usually be done within a year or two by obtaining casual employment with neighbouring farmers and during winter they may be able to secure in the district.

It is usually found that the average recipient, without much labour on his part, is able to provide his own water and fuel, while the cost of rent is considerably less than that prevailing in the Cities.

Many families have already taken advantage of this opportunity to re-establish themselves in a small way, and there are many not now on relief who are only too anxious to get started on a like farm, although to them, it is, of course, not available.

In view of the foregoing, there should be absolutely no necessity for anyone going round from door to door, soliciting support from residents of the City, as everything that can reasonably be expected is being done.

Should any single homeless destitute man solicit help from anyone between the hours of 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. such person should be referred to apply to the Relief Office, Old Fire Building, 9907 107th Avenue; while those who may happen to get into the City after the Relief Office is closed, should be directed to the Old Immigration Hall on 101st Street, between Jasper Avenue and C.N.R. tracks, where provision will be made for them overnight. They can also apply there for meal tickets if need be, as indicated in the manner indicated. Provision is made for everyone requiring relief and the medium of assistance available.

The Province invites and would welcome the co-operation of labor organizations, service clubs and individual taxpayers, who are interested in the welfare of those people, who are unfortunate as to require relief, to inquire what the Province is doing, not only in a general way, but with respect to individual cases that are brought to their attention. They may visit the Provincial Relief Office at any time during business hours, and find out what the exact situation is in regard to any case.

It is thought, that, with the co-operation of responsible organizations and others, much good will be done in the interest of relief recipients, and a better understanding exist between the Government, and the taxpayer, and the relief recipient, when full information has been obtained—not only from the viewpoint of the Province, but also that of the relief recipient, who usually appreciates the medium of assistance that is being made available. In the odd case, where a relief recipient considers he has been discriminated against, it can usually be satisfactorily adjusted, by representations being made in the proper manner.

VICTIM DIES OF BURNS FROM DEATH ACID

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A jobless Longshoreman who police said confessed he threw deadly acid on a seaman friend and his wife because they "wouldn't tell me where the girl I loved had moved to" was charged with homicide today after one of the victims died of burns.

At about the same time Harold Johnson, 36, an unemployed longshoreman, died, Harry Heinz, 24, surrendered to police.

Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ruisi said Heinz formerly kept company with a young woman who was a friend of Mrs. Johnson. Ruisi said Heinz blamed Mrs. Johnson when the woman suddenly stopped seeing him and moved to a new address.

Mrs. Johnson was treated at hospital for severe burns on the face and hands.

Fake Gold Sales Reported In B.C.: Merchants Victims

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15—Inspector Forbes Cruickshank, of the British Columbia police here, said investigation has been launched into reports 'fake' gold had been sold to businessmen in Fraser Valley towns.

The inspector said his office had received reports merchants at Hope, Lillooet, Prince George and other interior towns, accustomed to accept placer gold from prospectors, had been victimized recently.

He said the merchants had accepted the metal which had all the appearance of placer gold and withstood ordinary tests but on chemical analysis proved to be lead "cleverly disguised."

Lord Maugham Raps Critics Of Prime Minister

LONDON, Dec. 15—Lord Maugham, the Lord Chancellor, last night attacked those within the Conservative party who are critics of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

"There will be no apology from me for anything the government has done," he declared in an address to the United Club.

But an apology was needed, he said, for those Conservatives who would-be prime ministers—who go about not only in this country but in countries other than England poisoning the wells of truth by statements of what they imagine the government has done and by statements of what the government ought to have done and would have done if they had been in control."

Changes Made In New Zealand Labor Government

WELLINGTON, Dec. 15—Changes in New Zealand's Labor government were announced Wednesday following appointment of Walter Nash to be minister of social security in addition to the finance portfolio he already holds. P. C. Webb, minister of mines, retains that post but also acquires the labor office from H. T. Armstrong, who becomes minister in charge of state housing, replacing Mr. Nash in that capacity.

Minister Labor Makes Report On Unemployed

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Preliminary figures from the national registration of persons on aid showed there were 125,000 unemployed but fully employable persons on aid in October, Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of Labor, announced last night.

This was an increase of slightly less than six per cent from the September total of 118,000 and a net increase of less than three per cent over October, 1937.

It is perhaps natural, but also very suggestive, that the totalitarian press does not like to see the democratic peoples fraternizing. The Nazi papers seem to have worked themselves into quite a frenzy because Mr. Anthony Eden was invited to speak in New York, did so, and was welcomed with unmistakeable signs of cordiality and understanding. One of them describes the affair as a reception "by two and a half million Jews in the new Jerusalem" and others display a corresponding sense of the undesirability of the gathering from the viewpoint of the "Trinity of Threat".

Comments from the Italian press must have been more moderate, or unprintable, since they have not been given corresponding prominence in the cables. Nor has the Pan-American Congress yet been paid the respect due to it from either Berlin or Rome. That in good time, no doubt.

These proceedings in the new world do not augur well for hopes to extend the policies of force to these continents. They may even signify developments of nearer and more immediate concern to the predatory powers. The Nazi editors seem to suspect they do.

Lending on Character

Since it pioneered the experiment, particular interest attaches to the fact that in two years the Canadian Bank of Commerce has made what are called "personal loans" to 108,000 persons, to a total of $15,000,000. These are loans made to salaried men and others with moderate incomes, with no security for the bank other than faith in the integrity of the borrower.

This is a field in which the loan shark used to operate, in ways which successive investigations made notorious, because the banks did not particularly cater to that class of business. The significant thing is that, after a two-year trial, the personal loan policy is being continued and is advertised as a regular part of banking practice. The promise of an honest man is thus recognized to be a proper basis for credit.

There can be only one explanation for this. The business has been found to be safe. Which implies that the borrowers have borrowed in moderation, as well as that they have shown themselves honest. Recalling the "debt mess" resulting from borrowings in the booming "twenties," the moderation is scarcely less commendable than the honesty.

The banks because of this new departure stand in a different position with respect to the public. They have made clients and friends in quarters where they were before unknown or known only as repositories for savings. In offering credit in competition with the usurers who fattened by exploiting those of limited means, they have enlarged their field of usefulness and identified themselves more closely with the life of the nation.

Just a Grudge—Maybe

Statements by Premier Hepburn and Hon. J. G. Gardiner boil down to the proposition that Mr. Hepburn wants to "bump off" Prime Minister King just because he doesn't like him—since the Ontario Premier says he would support a reconstructed Dominion Government under Mr. Gardiner or some other head.

The explanation is pretty thin. Political adults who have attained to the premierships of provinces do not wage open war against the federal leader of their party on grounds of personal dislikes or grudges. Mr. Hepburn may have a flair for the unusual, but he can hardly see profit in gambling with fate where there is nothing to be won and a chance of wrecking both his own and the party's fortunes. But let that go.

Where does it leave Mr. Hepburn? On this showing he cherishes the ambition to become king-maker of Canada, outsing prime ministers and replacing them for no better reason than personal preferences. If that is the motive he may as well dismiss it, a good deal better in fact, for it will not lead him anywhere but into the ditch.

When the time comes to choose another leader for the Liberal party of Canada he will be chosen by and at a party convention, not by the Premier of Ontario or any other individual. And the role Mr. Hepburn has been playing to the confusion of the party and the huge satisfaction of its enemies—still more the explanation now given for playing that role—do not suggest that his recommendation will go very far in deciding who the convention will choose. It rather invites a suspicion that he may not be among those present.

How Many Members?

Edmonton people generally will not welcome the proposal that their representation in the legislature be cut from six members to four, unless there is to be a reduction in the total membership which would preserve the present proportion from this city. Some such loss of the city's representation must be supposed to have been in the minds of those who have for years been advocating a drastic reduction in the total number of members. Edmonton is not over-represented in a house of 63 members.

That the present legislature is too large in the numerical sense has been urged solely on the ground that a smaller body would spend less money and render as good service. Neither proposition is self-proving, and both are of doubtful validity.

The amount spent in sessional allowances and travelling expenses of members of the legislature is only a trifling fraction of the provincial expenditure. Last year it was $137,068, out of a total of more than $24,800,000. The amount that could be saved by cutting down the number of members, unless the assembly were to be reduced to the proportions of a county council, would make no material difference. And it is easily possible that the smaller body would spend more in other directions than could be thus saved.

That smallness makes for efficiency is equally doubtful. If so, why not reduce the membership to a baker's dozen? Nor is it to be overlooked that the population of the province—and of the city—is growing and bound to grow. Not only is it growing, but growing under conditions of change and development which will increase and not diminish the work of the legislature and the need for adequate representation of all sections and interests.

The Manchester Guardian says Poland is slated for dismemberment next, and presents a disconcerting array of evidence to support the prediction. But has the Guardian forgotten Mr. Hitler's declaration that he had no further territorial ambitions in Europe after taking the Ruhr —long before he took Austria and Sudetenland?

The Canadian Youth Congress sponsors a report that more than 400,000 Canadians between the ages of 15 and 30 years are without gainful employ. How many of these are not in need of such employ—those attending school, and children of wealthy parents who would not be working for wages in any circumstances —is not stated. The omission is important. Since there are about 2,500,000 Canadians, all told, between 15 and 30 years of age, those classed as gainfully employed are about 85 out of each 100; not a bad showing.

Current Comment

Jews in Abyssinia

It was only to be expected that Italy would follow Germany's example, and this year Italian legislation has been enacted which oppressed the Jew. The action is less directed to those of Italian birth than to those who have immigrated since are War. The numbers who will have to leave Italy are not accurately known, but estimates have been made of 15,000 to 20,000, an addition to the refugee total which is comparatively unimportant. I daresay you have noticed in the press that the legislation does not apply to Jews in Abyssinia, and this may seem to you suggestive. It may be that Mussolini contemplates the development of that territory with the help of Jewish brains, Jewish labor and Jewish capital.—Sir John Simpson in The Listener.

Tried—and Acquitted—By Public Opinion

Two out of every three Americans who have heard about the Mooney case believe Tom Mooney should be freed.

The American Institute of Public Opinion makes this report after a nation-wide survey.

That report should speed action by California's new Governor, Culbert L. Olson, when he takes office next month.

Olsen has promised to pardon Mooney, whose frame-up on perjured testimony has been an international scandal, and whose twenty-one years in jail have made him the world's most famous "political prisoner."

Dr. Gallup discloses in this poll that 85 per cent of Americans know about the Mooney case; that of these 68 per cent want Governor Olson to free him, while only 34 per cent are opposed.

It is interesting to note that, while 74 per cent of Democrats favor Mooney's release, only 49 per cent of Republicans agree with this viewpoint. The refusal of six Republican California Governors to pardon Mooney in spite of the case into the last California campaign have made the Mooney case a party issue.

We hope Olsen acts quickly. The reaction of the American public to the Mooney case is another testimonial to the common sense of the common man.—New York Post.

Technique of Tyranny

This news story, recently sent out by the United Press, almost writes its own editorial:

German Red Leader Trained in Nazi Prison Estate

BERLIN, Nov. 4. (U.P.).—Ernst Thaelmann, pre-Hitler leader of the German Communists, has become a trained gardener, friends said today.

Thaelmann was transferred fourteen months ago from the Moabit Prison in Berlin to an estate near Hanover, where persons under semi-permanent protective arrest are occupied in agriculture.

A person who had seen Thaelmann said he was now "boss instructor" of thirty men. He seldom speaks, and has come to believe that he will never be a free man.

That's how political scores are settled in the dictator countries.

Ernst Thaelmann, before Adolf Hitler won the last genuine German election in March, 1933, was the leader of a legally constituted German political party. He was comparable to Alfred M. Landon, Earl Browder, President Roosevelt or Norman Thomas in this country today. After Hitler came to power—well, the clipping tells that story. And if Thaelmann's Reds instead of Hitler's Brown Shirts had won that German election, Hitler would now be jailed or dead and Thaelmann would be swanking around and terrorizing the German people like a German edition of Josef Stalin.

Suppose we liquidated political disagreements in dictatorship fashion. Al Smith would have been breaking rocks these ten years in Leavenworth or Atlanta for having dared to run against Herbert Hoover in 1928. Mr. Hoover would have gone to join Al Smith on the rock pile in March, 1933, for not having defeated Mr. Roosevelt. A richly assorted delegation of politicians would be just getting shaken down to prison and concentration-camp routines at this moment for coming out second best in last month's elections—Thomas E. Dewey, John L. O'Connor, Gov. Wilbur Cross of Connecticut, Gov. Elmer Benson of Minnesota, Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin, Gov. George Earle of Pennsylvania, Senator George McGill of Kansas, Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, Gov. F. F. Merriam of California, and all the instigators of the defeated California $30-a-week "scrip tease" pension plan.

Pleasurable as it would be to see an occasional politician Alcatrazed, to make a custom of jailing or killing off political losers can only injure the nation that does it. It stifles opposition, and so it cuts off the free interchange of ideas which alone can keep a nation mentally and spiritually upon its toes.

Tyranny paralyzes a nation, literally, from the neck up. We cannot help believing that that paralysis eventually spreads downward, too. Indeed, Russia has already given evidences of general paralysis, by taking repeated insults from Japan and by failing to make good on all those dire threats about what Russia would do if Hitler should lift a finger against Czecho-Slovakia.

Democracy vitalizes a nation, and keeps it alive. We may be a bit shaky economically just now; but at least we're all free to think as we choose about our condition, and to try to do something about it. We don't have to wait for instructions from some supergangster installed by force in the White House, then all bow our heads and intone that the great man can't be wrong.

The more you look around at what goes on in various other countries, the plainer it becomes that our constitutional guarantees of free speech, free press, free religion and free assemblage are not mere pious phrases penned on paper by some fusty old-timers about six generations back. Those guarantees are the dynamos and the life-giving currents that keep the whole mighty American engine in operation.—Collier's.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWER

In a nameless, hurriedly-dug grave within the fortress of Jilaveu in Rumania, there were tumbled fourteen bodies, just fourteen days ago. They were all that was mortal of Corneliu Zeiea Codreanu, the young Hitler of Rumania, and thirteen of his lieutenants of the Iron Guard.

TERRORISM IN RUMANIA

Codreanu was serving a ten-year sentence for treason; the others were serving life terms for murders they had committed. Codreanu himself had twice faced murder charges—once for alleged participation in the murder of a prefect of police and later for alleged participation in the assassination of the late Premier Duca—but each time he was acquitted.

The story told of the deaths is that while the prisoners were proceeding in two trucks through a wood, on their way from one prison to another, some of their friends attempted a rescue. Seeing their prisoners escaping, the guards opened fire with machine guns, killing all fourteen. None of the guards was hit and none of the alleged rescuers. This has given rise to questioning. Capital punishment is abolished in Rumania. The men were all sworn terrorists. Did King Carol, following the shooting of a police officer and a university professor by members of the Iron Guard two days before, decide to meet terrorism with terrorism? Or did the men meet their deaths in an attempted rescue plot?

Let us look a little into Rumanian politics and see how Nazi dictators come to pass, for Codreanu had set himself to emulate his idol, Adolf Miller. In several respects, Codreanu's career parallels that of Hitler. He was not a native of Rumania. By birth he was a Pole. He had changed his real name of Zelinski to that of Codreanu. Yet that did not deter him from denouncing all foreigners and Jews and voicing the slogan "Rumania for Rumanians." While still a student at the University of Jassy he started his anti-Semitic campaign. He organized a body known as The League of the Archangel Michael. Riding through the country on a white horse, with a crucifix in his hand and a pistol in his pocket, he rallied members for the persecution of Rumanian Jews.

EMULATING DER FEUHRER

Like Hitler, he did not scorn to invoke religion to achieve his objects. When the League of the Archangel Michael was merged with the terrorist Iron Guard he chose as the motto of the organization the impious phrase "Jesus, King and Nation." They wore green shirts and Sam Browne belts and adopted as their emblem a blue swastika on a yellow ground.

Not that Codreanu was any more loyal to the King than he was to the teachings of Jesus. He derided King Carol as "a wooden lath painted to look like iron" and insulted the King's woman friend, Magda Lupescu, because she is Jewish. Even the authorities were terrorized by the assassinations of the Iron Guard. When at last Premier Duca was moved to dissolve the Iron Guard, he too met assassination.

Before the general elections in Rumania a year ago, Codreanu effected a "unity agreement" with opponents of the government—both the National Peasant party under Dr. Maniu and the semi-Fascist Independent Liberals under ex-Premier Bratianu. So confident was Codreanu of attaining office with his coalition that a few days before the election he issued a statement saying that "within forty-eight hours of my party's victory, Rumania will have concluded an alliance with Berlin and Rome." The German Nazis had been feeding Codreanu and his band of terrorists with advice, literature and money. They counted on them to swing Rumania into line for Hitler's "drang nach Osten"—the "thrust to the East" he outlines in "Mein Kampf."

A BLOW TO NAZI PLANS

Alas for Codreanu's hopes! Though the government got the 38.5 per cent of the total vote, his own party got only 16 per cent. The deadlock was ended by King Carol declaring himself virtual dictator under a coalition ministry, governing without parliament. The "wooden lath" saw to it that Codreanu was not included in the coalition ministry.

Codreanu and his friends planned an uprising for last Easter (so they but Carol had the leaders arrested. Codreanu received a six month sentence for libel. When released, he engaged in further terroristic plots. Learning that the Iron Guard was again preparing an uprising, Carol struck with effect. Two thousand arrests were made. Caches of arms were unearthed in the homes of Codreanu's lieutenants, and an order from their leader to be prepared to march on Bucharest. Cordeanu's plotting with German Nazis was uncovered. This time he got a real trial—and soon after a bullet in his brain.

Berlin is shocked at this treatment to "a noble hero"—so soon after Carol had visited London and Berlin. No reprisals have yet followed and no sympathy is expressed for Codreanu. It looks as if the fight has been knocked out of the Iron Guard terrorists, by this dose of their own medicine.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

SEEING THE OTHER SIDE

One of America's greatest religious leaders has cultivated the habit of turning every new proposition around and examine the other side. It makes him seem provokingly contrary at times; but it has given him one of the most fertilizing minds of our generation. He not only thinks for himself, but he sets others to thinking.

His open-mindedness comes this way. It is a sign of Christian tolerance, and of personal hospitality to full truth, to consider what is behind every proposal that is contrary to our accepted views. A Fundamentalist is not entitled to be uncharitable to a Modernist, nor a Modernist to a Fundamentalist.

Foolish and radical seem some of the notions and practices of modern youth; but oldsters should give heed to the purposes behind them. And tolerant youth owes it to its own intellectual integrity to consider what lies back of the beliefs and habits of their elders.

Lord, lead us into truth, by way of love. Make us patient and charitable with all who differ from us. In every controversy, may the gentleness of Jesus rule us. Amen.

Interprovincial Conference

Editor, Bulletin: The Premier of Alberta has asked for an Interprovincial Conference, independent of the officers of the Dominion government. The Dominion government now proposes a conference to which the officers of the Dominion government have invited themselves.

It is pertinent to ask: Who will the Dominion officers represent? If all the provinces are represented, all the Canadian people will be represented. The Dominion, as such, has no citizenry and no domain, except that which is held in trust for the provinces. The Dominion government is merely a bureaucracy whose original authority was conferred upon it by the parliament of Great Britain. It will be ridiculous if a so-created bureaucracy, which has clothed itself with a spurious superior authority, attempts to intrude its influence in a conference of the sovereign people; attempt to tell them what they shall do with regard to allocating the powers and authority which are in the gift of the people of the provinces, for in them the sovereign authority of the nation resides.

If the sovereignty of the Canadian people is to be honored, the Dominion officers should be in attendance, but as accredited voting delegates, but merely in an advisory capacity.

Technocracy

Editor, Bulletin: I want Mr. Christiansen (Dec. 9, Bulletin) to understand that Technocracy's analysis of the present system goes beyond the study of "capitalism" or the "profit system," that it transcends all questions of mere ownership. Technocracy goes to fundamentals, the price system itself, i.e., any social system whatsoever that effects its control of production and distribution by means of an exchange based upon commodity evaluation.

Mr. Christiansen assumes that evaluation is a "form of measurement." Anyone who has studied science will realize that value is not a measure of anything. How can you measure with a yardstick which is itself forever fluctuating?

Mr. Christiansen says that "plenty destroys neither values or prices." Surely he knows what happens to the price of wheat when there is an abundant crop. And how does he then explain the acts of the Roosevelt-New Deal which were admittedly for the purpose of creating an artificial scarcity to keep up prices? Why has Uncle Sam purchased over 80 million pounds of butter during the past five years; why were oranges being dumped in California this fall at a rate of 135 three-ton trucks every four days?

Certainly the Edmonton stores do not "give away goods." It has not reached that stage, yet. But, the more abundant goods become, the lower their prices will go. The price system fights back by curtailing production. Technocracy, Inc., predicts that the forces which bring about abundance will be stronger than those that try to create artificial scarcity — technology will smash the price system.

The disappearance of values in tangible objects with an advancing technology approaching full automaticity is a fundamental factor not anticipated by the Marxian theory of values, or any other social philosophy.

As a case in point, let us consider one substance without which no life can continue on this globe—air. Air has never yet been subjected to the operations of trading, financing, mortgaging, loaning, borrowing, evaluating, or any other manipulations of the price system. Why? Because its bountiful supply has never permitted the creation of a demand. The characteristics of air can be duplicated with any other needful thing if we establish the requirement of abundance.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Eighty-five years ago today (on December 15, 1853) the first railway train in upper Canada was operated from Hamilton to London, the first section of the latter important Great Western Railway of Canada. It was fitting that this transportation record should have its theatre in London, because it was London men who were the pioneers in railway development of Canada. As early as 1834 the London Chamber of Commerce secured, through the intervention of other leading citizens, the passage of a bill to incorporate the London and Gore Railroad Company, the Gore representing Hamilton. The bill was given the royal assent on the same March day as was the bill to convert Muddy York into the city of Toronto; but it was not until 1853 that the promoters were in a position to go ahead with the work, and then as part of the Great Western project.

SKI'S THE LIMIT —By Adelaide Humphries

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SALLY BLAIR, heroine. She had everything that popularity could win her, almost.

DAN REYNOLDS, hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis

COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So . . . But go on with the story.

Yesterday: Sally finds Dan a striking, athletic fellow, earnest about his skiing ambitions. She feels a bit ashamed when she realizes she is "using" him to win her dare.

CHAPTER IV

As Corey had predicted, Dan Reynolds came off with most of the honors, and won most of the points for his college, the final day of the meet.

Sally thought she had never seen a more magnificent, or impressive sight than the thousands of enthusiastic spectators, surrounding the course with its backdrop of high hills, sheer cliffs, dark pines and bright sunshine.

The most beautiful and impressive event of all was the slalom race, set through its intricate patterns of bright flags, that required all the agility and skill of which the runners were capable. None of them, Sally saw, with a thrill of pride, could come up to Dan. A mighty cheer rose from all that enormous crowd as his swift, graceful figure took the run, executing high-speed Christmas, spray-throwing telemarks and the fast tempo-turn with astonishing and breath-taking perfection.

None of the other of the Big Six, for there were representatives from Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Yale and Brown, had any runner to match Reynolds. No other man came off with as many points as he, for Dan excelled not only in slalom, but in jumping and downhill.

"He ought to be in the Olympics," Sally said to Corey. "He could go undefeated. I've never seen anything like him, Corey. And I've seen some of the best."

This was after the meet, back in the fraternity house where a dinner dance was in progress in honor of the visiting girls. Following the house parties would be over, the co-eds would pack their fluffy dance frocks and silver slippers, ski togs and clumsy boots; the men would settle down to cram for mid-term exams.

"Look here," Corey said, his eyes narrowing, "I'm getting a bit fed up, hearing you sing Reynolds' praises day and night, night and day. Don't forget you're still my girl—tonight, anyway."

He scowled so fiercely at another brother who gave evidence of intentions of cutting in that the rest of the flag line took note and knew they had better let Corey have a clear field his evening.

"That reminds me," he told Sally a little closer, gave her a perspicacious whirl that nearly lifted her silver slippers from the floor, "we've a special date later on. Just you and yours truly. I've ordered a cutter, going to take you for a sleigh ride. And I've also ordered a big full moon. How does that sound, my sweet."

"It sounds almost too romantic," Sally returned demurely. But she meant it. She was just as sure that she wanted to take a moonlight sleigh ride alone with Corey. He might get ideas in his head, some head, ideas that would be too romantic for Sally to cope with. For she knew that Corey had lost his heart to her during this gay week-end.

The funny part, however, was that Sally had hoped to add Corey Porter to her list of admirers. She had hoped this week-end would accomplish just that victorious conquest. For it was a conquest to land Corey. He never had fallen, seriously, for any girl. Like Sally, he was too popular, too much in demand.

Why wasn't she thrilled now, knowing that on this sleigh ride, Corey, without doubt, would ask her to be his girl, not just for tonight, but for always? What had happened to Sally to make her change her mind? Surely it had nothing to do with a boy named Dan Reynolds, a boy who, by his own admission, did not belong in Sally's glamorous world, who did not like a girl of her sort, or have any time for anything besides his beloved skiing. A boy who had waited table at the banquet at which Sally had presided, the prettiest, most sought-after girl present.

Now while Sally danced in her silver slippers and wide-skirted chiffon dress, with Corey's orchids nestling over her heart, Dan would be washing dishes in a stuffy hot kitchen. When Corey tucked Sally under the big buffalo robe in the cutter behind a dancing, spirited team, Dan would be obeying the strict schedule that kept him in such magnificent physical condition and that allowed him no time for romance.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Many methods have been tried by those noticing their hair is thinning out in an effort to grow more luxuriant hair but often these methods are such that necessary food minerals are not being secured in the daily diet.

Hair is built of much the same elements found in the nails, and hair can be secured from foods containing the natural food minerals. Silicon, especially, seems to be necessary for a good growth of hair and if the diet is lacking in this element the hair will not grow so well. Some of the foods which help to feed your hair are: celery, spinach, asparagus, lettuce, kale, carrots and others of the green leafy variety. These vegetables are most useful in their raw state, as cooking seems to make the minerals less valuable for hair-building, but even the cooked vegetables are better than none at all.

Fortunately, the same vegetables which will improve the hair will at the same time improve the health so do not be surprised if you find you are feeling better after trying to feed your hair by using the vital minerals found in the vegetables.

In addition to using the right diet it is also necessary to make sure that the blood circulates well to the hair roots, if you wish to prevent baldness. A plentiful growth of hair is dependent upon a good circulation of blood. Each hair grows something like an onion, being fed from the bulb beneath and each healthy hair root must be nourished by blood circulating freely to it. You might think of it as being a problem of irrigation, with the roots needing proper irrigation in order to thrive.

Those who are worried by incipient baldness will generally be found to have a sluggish circulation, not only to the scalp, but throughout the rest of the body as well. Any activity which wakes up this lazy circulation will be helped in growing more hair. Some of the tonics which have been credited with hair-growing properties owe their success to the fact that the directions call for a thorough massage of the scalp, while these preparations are being rubbed into it. The massage and rubbing naturally bring the blood to the scalp and it is this increased circulation which makes the hair grow better.

Usually this poor circulation is found with those with dry, light scalps that is, with those who are unable to more their scalps freely. I find that in these cases, baldness may often be prevented by the use of the ice treatment which will increase the scalp circulation.

The ice is applied to the scalp several times a day by holding a piece of ice to the different places where baldness is approaching. The ice should be held in direct contact with the skin until the skin turns red and feels warm. Follow this treatment with massage with the tips of the fingers, using a small amount of oil to supply oil to the hair shafts. Olive oil or coco butter or almond oil may be used for this purpose. This should be done twice a day, or oftener and you will find the hair will gradually become stronger and thicker.

Physical culture exercises will also prove helpful by increasing the general circulation which in turn sends a better flow of blood to the head at the same time that the rest of the body is benefitting.

If your hair is falling out, this indicates that the hair has not been properly nourished with the needed elements and each hair which is falling necessary services" was passed and will be forwarded to the Dominion body.

GEN. ROBERTO FIERRO

Former chief of Mexican air service, one of nine Mexicans and Americans charged at Brownsville, Tex., with violating U.S. Neutality act by taking airplanes out of country for shipment to Spain.

Sally wondered, a bit wistfully, if in his dreams, perhaps, Dan might not think — just once — of her. For he had shown signs of thawing out, just a little, of liking her. Just the least bit, during those early morning lessons. He had promised to give her a last lesson tomorrow before she went away —perhaps never to see him again!

"Why the big sigh?" Corey asked, bending closer. They sat close together in the old-fashioned cutter, under the big robe. The sleigh bells jingled pleasantly in the crisp night air, the horse trod lightly on the hard-packed snow. There was a moon, as Corey had promised. A big round silver one shimmering over this silvery, eerie, magical world.

"Because it's so beautiful," Sally said. "Because this is the last night. Because everything has to come to an end." Because her heart said, tomorrow will be the last morning I shall get up to meet the dawn. And Dan.

Corey gave the horses their heads allowing the reins to lie in one hand. He threw his free arm over the back of the seat, around Sally's shoulders. His blue eyes peered down into hers. "But it doesn't have to end," he said. "Not for you and me, Sally. Not ever."

This was the moment of Sally's biggest conquest. Her moment of triumph. But why didn't her heart beat faster? Why did she wish this moment was not so close at hand?

"You know what I mean, Sally." Corey's voice was exceedingly earnest for him, for Corey always spoke gaily without seriousness. "You're going to be my girl—for always. I'm crazy about you, Sally. You're the first girl I ever really fell for like this. The swellest girl — the prettiest, the sweetest—I ever met."

He took it for granted that any girl would be thrilled to hear him say that. That no girl could refuse to accept to be his. Wasn't he Corey Porter, who always got what he wanted? Who, really, Blair, Queen of the carnival, meant just for him?

He did not notice that Sally drew away a little, was silent too long. He bent even closer, his arm tightening around her shoulders, his lips seeking hers.

But Sally, after a kiss too brief, too fleeting, turned away her head.

It had not been too romantic. It had held no romance at all. That triumphant moment. It had proved to Sally that she could not be Corey's girl, no matter how much he was how right and fitting it might be.

It had proved something to Sally that made her frightened and glad, sorry and ashamed. For Sally, for the first time in her glamorous, little existence, had stopped to look deeply into her own heart, to wonder and question what lay hidden there.

"Oh, Corey," she said, Sally said. And her voice was earnest, too, not light and gay. "Terribly sorry. Truly I am. But I can't be your girl—ever."

Because I am someone else's, her heart said. Someone who does not want me, who does not know that I am, who would not have me for his girl, if he did—

And the tables turned? Was Sally's heart to be broken? Sally, who had broken so many hearts before this, who had never cared, or taken anything earnestly before, with this mixture of singing gladness and frightened despair.

Empire Voice Needs 40,000 More in Canada Says Duke Devonshire

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The British Empire's voice in foreign affairs would be increased manifold if, for example, Canada had a population of 40,000,000 instead fo its present 10,000,000, the Duke of Devonshire, dominions' undersecretary, declared in a speech last night.

"Battleships, tanks, guns and rifles are no good unless you have men," he said.

The Empire is a powerful factor in world affairs, a factor always found on the side of peace, justice and truth, the Duke added, declaring:

"But I ask you to think what the Empire might mean in world affairs, if Canada had a population of 40,000,000. If Australia had 20,000,000 and if the Union of South Africa had a population of 20,000,000 or 30,000,000."

Every one of the self-governing Dominions could support vastly larger populations, the Duke said.

Remarking that before the end of the year about 1,200 emigrants would leave Britain for Australia under the "assisted passage" scheme, he declared that "the first time since the 1930 slump "the balance will be an outward rather than an inward one."

"Britons should take off their hats to Australia for undertaking to admit 15,000 of those unhappy refugees from Germany," the Duke said.

GERMAN JEWISH WAR VETERANS' INCOMES CUT

BERLIN, Dec. 15—Drastic curtailments in the income of the large group of German Jewish Great War veterans were ordered Wednesday, effective Jan. 1.

When the Nazis came to power Jan. 30, 1933, they ejected Jews from all public offices. Men who had served in the trenches during the war, however, were kept on full pay even after removed from office, because of their war service and because they lost their jobs on racial, not personal, grounds.

That policy now has been changed and the veterans placed on the level of all other Jews. After Jan. 1 they will receive only the ordinary pension based on the number of years they worked for the government.

N. Y. BROKER IS HELD FOR BOND FRAUD

TORONTO, Dec. 15—George H. Clayton, 49, described as a New York broker, was arrested here Wednesday.

Toronto police said Clayton and others are charged with substituting worthless bonds for genuine bonds in the Continental Securities Corporation. He had been sought since June when he and five others were indicted by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

The indictments allege that United States purchasers of worthless stock from the corporation at fictitious rates were swindled out of approximately $14,000,000.

Nazis To Rebuild Jewish Synagogue To Court Favor

VIENNA, Dec. 15—Nazi authorities agreed today to rebuild one of the 29 synagogues they destroyed in the outburst against Jews last month. They will restore at their own expense a synagogue used by Turkish Jews, the authorities said. Jewish circles interpreted this as an effort to court the favor of Turkey as a part of the Nazi drive to reach ostem (drive to the east). Religious services for other Jews are forbidden.

LACOMBE

Shorthorn Men Plan To Curtail Society Expense

Expenses of the Canadian Shorthorn Breeders' association were too high and should be curtailed as soon as possible to keep the association on a sound business basis, was the general opinion of members of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' association, who gathered in Lacombe for their annual meeting.

A resolution expressing "necessity for retrenchment without curtailing necessary services" was passed and will be forwarded to the Dominion body.

Officers for the association were elected as follows: President, C. Gallanger, of Tofield; vice-president, E. Boak, Acme; secretary-treasurer, W. D. MacDonald, Grainger. J. W. Durno, of Calgary, was appointed as field-man.

Judges for the Calgary and Edmonton fairs were also chosen and are: Edmonton Spring Show, A. McDougall, Champion; Calgary Spring Show, Eric Durno, Calgary; Calgary Summer Fair, A. McDonald, Davis, Calif.; Edmonton Summer Fair, R. A. Watt, Dayton, Wash. The 1939 annual meeting will be held in Calgary.

BASHAW

The public meeting and banquet held Monday for the opening of a treasury branch of the Social Credit houses, was attended by 300 people.

The speakers were J. A. Marshall, M.P., of Bashaw; D. B. McMillan, M.L.A. for Lacombe; N. Krogius, M.L.A. for Wetaskiwin, and G. L. McLachlan, M.L.A. for Coronation, chairman of the Social Credit board.

Hon. Solon E. Low, main speaker of the evening, gave an address on the operating and handling of a treasury branch. R. G. Gowan was chairman.

The meeting was successful and the organization is considering establishing a treasury branch in Mirror, where the people are interested.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

Three Ridings Represented At Conference

Three provincial constituencies were represented at the recent Social Credit divisional conference, delegates being present from the Peace River, Grouard and Grande Prairie constituencies.

William Fallow, M.L.A. for Grande Prairie, W. Lampley, M.L.A. for Peace River, and J. A. Maurice, general secretary of the Alberta Social Credit league, Edmonton, addressed the meeting.

Mr. Maurice, who has been director of the board of management for Peace River for the past three years, was re-elected for 1939.

The delegates were: Peace River constituency, Frank Gullion, Chinook Valley; Harry Wakeman, Grimshaw.

Grouard: Harry Gilbert, H. Moore, and O. A. Keay, High Prairie; N. A. Frood, Enilda.

Grande Prairie constituency: E. Dellolt, of DeBolt; C. E. Cavet, Alex Dunfield, Grande Prairie; Mr. Funk, Wanham.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

Funeral services for Ogden Judson Welch who passed away at his home Saturday morning, December 3, were held with Rev. J. M. Baxter officiating, assisted by Rev. T. D. Jones of Christ church and the Grande Prairie branch of the Canadian Legion. A British flag completely covered the coffin in recognition of the deceased's service overseas during the war. The late Mr. Welch came to the Peace River country in 1914 over the Edson trail.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

One of Rocky's long-time institutions, hog buying day each Wednesday, has been changed to Tuesday owing to the change in the C.P.R. train to give the town daily mail. Many farmers are annoyed with hogs on Tuesday, but the usual lot drove in Wednesday with their pigs. They had forgotten the change in train time.

SYLVAN LAKE

Several businessmen who lost heavily in the disastrous fire which swept Sylvan Lake last week, already are taking steps to re-establish themselves. The Weston Pharmacy, operated by Charles Weston, will carry on in the building at one time known as the Sylvan Lake Drug Store. The Frank Kovak's shoe store is operating in the Duffield Block.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C.

The Fort St. John Dramatic club, directed by Miss M. Hanns, school teacher, staged a three-act comedy entitled "How's That?" The audience was kept in an uproar all evening and the club will put on the play at Montney. Proceeds of $75 will be used to furnish the new wing of Providence hospital.

KILLAM

A meeting to arrange for a Youth Training course to be held here Jan. 2 to 14, was held and the following officers elected: H. Chandler, chairman; William Halsall, secretary; J. H. Caldwell, G. C. French, D. V. York, J. A. Neely, C. Nash, Gordon Fee, H. Vogt,

Edith Isabel Budd And Norman Mould Are Wed At Evening Hour Ceremony

GARLANDS of cedar and tall standards of chrysanthemums in snow white, bold and bronze, made an effective floral background in the west end home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Budd on Wednesday evening, when their only daughter, Edith Isabel Budd, was married in marriage with Norman Mould, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mould, also of this city.

Solemnized at the hour of half-past seven o'clock, the service was read by Rev. Gordon Brown. Miss Isabelle Ross played the wedding marches, and during the signing of the register Mr. Joseph Budd sang "All Joy Be Thine."

A lovely frock in orchid net, worn over rustling taffeta was the choice of the bride for her wedding. Made with a very full skirt, around the bottom of which were tiny bows in silver and rose sequin, her dress had large puffed sleeves and a heart-shaped neckline. She wore as her only ornament an amethyst pendant and carried a dainty lace handkerchief, an heirloom of the family. On her head she wore a halo of orchid net, and carried in her bouquet Briar Cliffe roses and violets.

Lovely Bride

MRS. NORMAN MOULD

who before her wedding on Wednesday evening was Miss Edith Isabel Budd, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Budd of Edmonton.

Mr. Budd was given in marriage by his daughter. The bride and bridegroom were unattended.

Mrs. Budd, mother of the bridegroom wore a smart hostess gown in chocolate brown with a floral panel of tea blue down the front. Her accessories were in wine and she wore a corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Mould, mother of the bridegroom, chose a distinctive model gown in black with black and white matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. T. A. Tracy, grandmother of the bride looked very charming in grape wine. She wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and violets.

60 GUESTS

Reception to sixty guests was arranged following the ceremony. The bride's table was graced with a three-tiered wedding cake, encircled in tulle around which were strewn pink rose petals and maiden hair fern and topped by a silver vase with pink roses.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. O. C. McIntyre.

On their return from a motor honeymoon trip to Banff, Mr. and Mrs. Mould will be at home to their friends in Edmonton. To travel the bride changed to a wood frock in Hunter's green with accessories in Lorenzo brown. Her top coat was in dark brown with brown lamb trimming on the collar and pockets.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. W. Skerratt of Saskatoon and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Tuck of Lavoy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. MacKinnon Are Honored At Reception

LIBERALISM can only give its finest leadership to the people of Canada when all the groups within the precincts of the party are working for the benefit of the whole. I therefore stress the necessity of the closest co-operation and friendliness among all units within the party," said Mr. James A. MacKinnon, Liberal M.P. for West Edmonton, on Wednesday evening when at a party in the I. O. O. F. temple on 103 street, he and Mrs. MacKinnon, who will leave shortly for Ottawa, were honored.

HOSTESSES

Twentieth Century Club members were hostesses at the reception and responsible for the generous display of appreciation extended to Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon. More than 300 guests were present.

Mr. MacKinnon spoke briefly during the evening, thanking the members for their thoughtfulness and urging even closer and firmer solidarity between the many clubs within the Liberal party.

Mr. Gerald O'Connor, M.L.A., and Mr. J. H. Tremblay, M.L.A., also spoke at the affair in appreciation of the service Mr. MacKinnon is rendering the community he represents in the Federal Houses of Parliament and of the contribution he has made to the Liberal party.

HONORS AT CARDS

Cards were arranged during the first part of the evening, and dancing during the latter part. Honors at bridge were won by Mrs. George Coward, Mr. James Podas, Miss Kathleen Podas and Mr. J. Penketh.

the social round . . . . .

AND of course there will be Christmas trees at festivals in cottage and castle this year! Christmas trees, a-blaze with colored lights and flashing baubles, with trickles of silver dropping from branch to branch and holding in their shaggy boughs gaily wrapped packages will again be the centre of interest. Origin of the Yuletide tree is an interesting one. A German folk tale has it that one Christmas Eve a forester and his household had made fast the door and were gathered around the cheerful hearth. By and by a knocking was heard at the door, and when on opening the door discovered a little child, cold, tired and hungry. He was welcomed in, fed and sheltered for the night; Hans, the boy of the family, gladly gave up his bed for the stranger. He was awakened by the singing of angels; and looking at the unbidden guest, they found Him transfigured, for He was none other than the Christ Child. He broke off a branch from a fir tree and set it in the earth. "See," said He, "I have gladly received your gifts, and this, is My gift to you. Henceforth this tree shall always bear its fruit at Christmas and to all shall bring joy and have abundance." And, since that time, the fir tree has always been honored, especially at the Christmas season.

What sweeter music can we bring
Than a carol for us to sing
The birth of this our heavenly king?
Awake the voice! Awake the string!

Dark and dull night, fly hence away,
And give honor to this day,
That sees December turned to May!
If we ask the reason, say:

The dearing of the world is come,
And fix it is we find a room
To welcome Him. The number part
Of all the house here is the heart!

Which we will give him and bedart
This holly and this ivy wreath,
To do Him honor who's our king,
The Lord of all this revelling.

Garrison Officers' Ball To Aid Newspaper Charities Is Colorful Winter Event

PRINCE of Wales Armories was the setting for a brilliant and colorful function on Wednesday evening, when in aid of newspaper charities in the city, members of the Garrison Officers' Mess were hosts to between 500 and 600 guests at dancing.

FIRST CHRISTMAS FORMAL

The affair held in the flag-draped mess hall was the first of the formal Christmas season affairs and struck a note of merriment and charm that will color all other parties arranged in the remaining days of 1938. Two bands were in attendance—members of the 49th Battalion the Edmonton Regiment, conducted by F. G. Aldridge, and 1st Edmonton Fusiliers, playing under the baton of Mr. R. A. Bullock.

Resplendent in their military garb, the officers and members of the military fraternity in Edmonton who were present for the occasion, vied in brilliance with the frocks of their ladies.

Dance steps old and new featured the evening, and a pleasing addition was the performance of the Lambeth Walk which was really colorful and interesting.

In charge of arrangements was a committee composed of the following: C.S.M. Charles Lancaster, C.Q.M.S. W. Church; T.Q.M.S. T. Hyde; C.Q.M.S. D. Scott; C.S.M. T. Bodsworth; Major D. McKenzie; C.O.M.S. Harry Ferrier; and C.S.M. J. Watt.

Dinner Dance Is Climax To Annual Breeders' Meet

TALL green tapers flanked on either side with bronze and mauve baby mums colored the festive table at the annual banquet of the Alberta Cattle, Sheep, Horse and Swine Associations held in the Corona hotel dining room Wednesday evening. The affair climaxed a series of meetings held by the Associations here during the past few days.

CHAIRMAN

Dean E. A. Howes, of the faculty of agriculture, University of Alberta, was chairman, and introduced J. R. Sweeney, deputy minister of Agriculture who was guest speaker. Mr. Sweeney outlined the success of Alberta exhibitors at the recent Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

His Worship, Mayor John W. Fry, extended the best wishes of the City to the members of the organization.

Musical selections were rendered by Dr. R. W. Neahy, vocalist who was accompanied by Mr. Dennis Clayton; and Mr. Jack Strachan led a community sing-song and gave a comic reading.

Square dances and minutes interspersed with the Lambeth Walk and the Palais Glide, popular when dancing held later in the evening.

HEAD TABLE

If you were in Cornwall of an evening at Christmas, you'd see the fisherfolk in coastal villages "guise dancing" on street corners to the music of concertina and drum. The boys usually dress as girls and the girls as boys. Sometimes they assume historical characters, sometimes merely go in blackface.

Betty Strong And Harold Hanlan Are Married Recently

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Dec. 15.—Frocked becomingly in wine chiffon velvet and carrying cream and wine rose Betty Roleda Strong, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. T. Strong, became the bride of Harold Ray Hanlan, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hanlan of Jasper at a prettily arranged ceremony in Holy Trinity Anglican church recently.

Rev. J. F. O'Neil officiated at the service.

Mr. Strong gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Mrs. J. Edgecombe as matron of honor.

Miss Mary Glyde played the wedding marches.

Informal reception was arranged following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting Mrs. Strong were Mrs. W. A. Hanlan and Mrs. Albert Hanlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanlan will make their home in Rocky Mountain House.

"Y" Notebook

Y Quando Quo members will not meet on Friday as usual but will hold a Recognition Ceremonial on Saturday evening, commencing at half after seven o'clock.

WELFARE BODY NEARS END OF 1938 SERVICE

Approach of the year-end brings to a close another chapter in the work of the Edmonton Emergency Welfare Association. A chartered organization, the Edmonton Emergency Welfare Association consists only of voluntary workers, and during the past year it has assisted on an average five cases a day.

Stopping for a moment's retrospect, the association may look back happily on a year's work, made possible through the kind donations and assistance of the residents of Edmonton. For these services they desire to thank their many friends, as they refer not to the busiest season of all, when in addition to every-day necessities, needy families will be provided with Christmas cheer.

Don't Experiment—

Treat Colds Proved Way

Doubly proved—in world's largest colds-clinic, and by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind. No "dosing." Just massage VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. Relief begins almost at once. And long after sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working. Its poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation and coughing, helps break local congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Leftovers Are Trumps For Bridge Luncheons

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Two more reader questions and two delicious answers. First: "How can I use leftover turkey in a salad for my bridge club?"

TURKEY ORANGE SALAD
(Serves 8)

Two and one-half cups turkey cut in dice (preferably white meat), 2 cups celery cut in dice, 2 cups orange slices cut in half, ¾ cup toasted almonds, mixed salad greens, including watercress, chicory and lettuce, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, ¼ cup French dressing.

Combine turkey, celery and orange slices. Pour over French dressing and stand for 30 minutes. Add parsley just before serving. Line chilled bowl with chilled salad greens and fill with turkey mixture. Top with toasted almonds.

The second reader question is: "Please give me a novel recipe for using persimmons, but not in a salad." Here is a pudding recipe from French Lick.

PERSIMMON PUDDING
(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup persimmon pulp, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, 1 cup cake crumbs, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt.

Select good ripe persimmons and push through a sieve. Measure pulp, add milk, salt, sugar, butter, crumbs and flour, which has been sifted, then blend with the baking powder. Bake in greased individual molds in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

One cup sugar, juice of one lemon and grated rind, 1 egg, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons water.

Cook all together in double boiler until thick.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, dry cereal, scrambled eggs with bacon, wholewheat toast, tart jelly, coffee, milk.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON: Clear mushroom soup in cups, toasted crackers, turkey orange salad, clover leaf rolls, pistachio ice cream, sweet wafers, coffee or tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled lamb chops, French fried potatoes, escalloped egg plant, romaine salad, persimmon pudding, lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

Raising A Family

Before Christmas, it would be a happy idea for the family to get out the old song books and learn the words and lovely tunes of the best known Christmas carols.

Then on Christmas Eve, with candles burning in the windows and in the quiet hush that precedes bedtime, young and old will find something so sweet to remember as they join their voices in song, that the little trouble of learning them will be repaid over and over.

O. R. Barton

Most people know "Holy Night: Peaceful Night," sometimes known as "Silent Night: Holy." But by chance you may forget, so I shall quote the first verse:

"Silent night; holy night,
All is calm, all is bright,
Round yon Virgin, Mother and Child.
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace."

Haydn composed the tune, and I find this other version of it, composed in 1818:

"Holy night: peaceful night.
Through the darkness beams a light,
Yonder where thy sweet vigils keep,
O'er the Babe who in silent sleep,
Rests in heavenly peace,
Rests in heavenly peace."

Children of all ages love "O Little Town of Bethlehem." It begins:

"O little town of Bethlehem, how still we see thee lie,
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight."

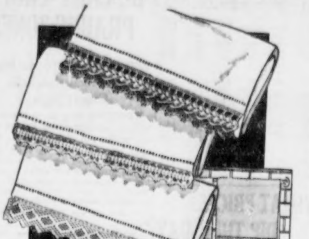

Another favorite is "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

"It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth,
To touch their harps of gold:
Peace to the earth, good will to men,
From heaven's gracious King.
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing."

There are so many beautiful songs. A few that I recommend are "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "The First Noel," "Noel Le Voici Venu," "Once in Royal David's City," "Joy to the World." But why not get a book of Christmas carols to keep?

Today's Popular Design

By CAROL AIMES

DESIGN No. 708—THREE CROCHET EDGINGS

Dear Readers: Fine linens are the joy of every woman's heart, but their styling must always be up-to-the-minute to suit modern bathrooms. What we particularly like about crocheted towel ends is that they never "date" linens, and they are practical and useful. These designs would be lovely in the classical all-white, but colored edgings to match your other furnishings would be quite original. Try them as edgings for pillow-cases and dresser scarfs too.

Pattern includes instructions for crocheting all three edgings, together with stitch details and material requirements.

Send 15 cents in coin for this pattern to The Edmonton Bulletin, Needlework Dept., Edmonton, Alberta.

Dorothy Dix Says:

WE TRY to dignify and justify divorce by pretending that it is a great tragedy brought about by some unforgivable wrong that a husband or wife has done to the other. But this is an alibi we concoct to save our faces. In reality we all know that where there is one divorced for infidelity or brutality or any other major sin, there are a hundred for peevishness, grumpiness, selfishness, boredom, the craving for adventure, or just because a husband or wife loses his or her taste for the party of the other part.

Divorce is bad enough, Heaven knows, but I often wonder if it is not less painful and less demoralizing than those marriages in which a disgruntled husband and wife drag along through the years the chain that binds them together, while they quarrel and argue and antagonize each other and fill each other's lives with bitterness and strife. Divorce is the surgeon's knife that cuts away a gangrened limb. Sometimes the patient recovers from the operation and has years of happy life. Sometimes he dies. But in either case he escapes the long, drawn-out torture of those who make marriage an earthly purgatory for each other.

Now if these fighting couples were villains, if they found a sadistic pleasure in making each other miserable, there might be some logic in their conduct. But such is not the case. Nearly always they are good, kind, conscientious men and women, anxious to do their duty and afflict on each other only the love the husbands and wives they so mistrust.

Perhaps the cure for this appealing situation in which the punishment is always so much greater than the crime is just a little frankness between husbands and wives. Perhaps if the husband could tell the wife exactly what it was about her that was disillusioning him and driving him to other women, she would mend her ways. Perhaps if the wife could tell the husband what he did that got on her nerves and made her think longingly of Reno, he would refrain from doing it. DOROTHY DIX.

Newest Lipsticks Now Feature Darker Hues

By ALICIA HART

Rich, dark red is the lipstick shade of the hour. If the purplish or orchid-toned lipstick you bought last September is just about gone, do try some of the deep, wine-red colors before deciding definitely to get a new one just like the old.

With black, dark red, lipstick can't be beaten. And it's equally nice with your wine woolen or the slate blue or gray ones. Change your rouge accordingly, of course. No truly chic woman would dream of wearing wine-red lip-stick and purplish red rouge.

If you are lucky enough to be able to afford several sets of make-up and plan to get a new one to wear with a dress you just bought by all means wear the dress or take it along when you go to buy the make-up. The shade of your complexion never actually changes but it certainly does not appear to be the same color when you are in black as it is when you wear yellow. If you wear the new dress or drape it about your shoulders and cheeks, you'll then be able to select cosmetics which make lips and cheeks glow naturally in spite of the light reflected on them from the dress.

CHECK ON POWDER

Nail lacquer ought to harmonize with lipstick. And there are lovely new dark red shades to match the new lipsticks. If you want that nail polish to stay for an unusually long time, try putting one of the waxy bases on before applying the polish itself. If you like an extremely high lustre, add another thin coat of wax after the polish is dry.

Incidentally, this is an excellent time to check up and see if your face powder is exactly right. It ought to match exactly your natural skin tones. And the only way to tell whether it is correct is to powder one side of your face, leaving the other bare, then compare them in a mirror. One will look shiny and the other smooth and beautifully dull, of course, but the powdered side should not be lighter or darker than the other.

CRANBERRY JUICE COCKTAIL

1 lb. (4 cups) cranberries, 2-3 cup sugar, 4 cups water.

Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open. Strain through cheesecloth. Heat, add sugar and boil for 2 minutes. Chill before serving. Lemon, orange, grapefruit or pineapple juice, ginger ale or other beverages combine well with this cocktail.

For large quantity, use: 20 lbs. cranberries, 5 gallons water, 7 lbs. sugar.

Wet newspapers are reported to be excellent for washing the windows in an automobile. Then use dry papers to polish the glass.

What To Do

A friend of mine is planning to spend a few days with me some time soon. I want to invite four of my friends to meet her and thought of giving a simple three-course dinner. But how to arrange the table differently is puzzling me. I don't want flowers in the centre with candles on each side. Can you help me?

MRS. R. I. I.

Answer—Yes, indeed, an attractive and unique arrangement is to have your candles in the centre—three or four arranged in a row, all of one height or staggered, if you wish, the tallest candle in the centre. Instead of a cloth, why not use individual table mats or a long runner on each side of the table? This will leave the polished surface of the table showing in the centre. Seat your guests three on a side and leave the two ends vacant, a splendid place for low bowls of holly. Then arrange a few branches of holly down the centre of the table. The wood, by the way, is a perfect background for the shining green leaves and red berries, and don't forget to arrange a bit of holly around the base of the candles. Use red or white candles—and hear your friends rave!

Miss F. Schroth And Mr. B. P. Bauer Marry In Trochu

TROCHU, Dec. 14. — St. John's Lutheran church was the setting for a pretty afternoon wedding recently when Dorothine Schroth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Schroth of Trochu, became the bride of Benhard Phillip Bauer of Torrington.

Rev. A. Reiner officiated.

Wearing a lovely frock in pure white satin, with accessories in silver, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Esther Bauer acted as matron of honor while the bridesmaids were Miss Bertha Schroth and Miss Elsie Bauer. Little Miss Beatrice

SURE-FIRE PARTY IDEAS GOOD THE YEAR ROUND

Go Swanky or Rustom

Everybody happy! I should say! It's always a gala night when the high-school set gathers at Connie's home.

No wonder. Her brain is fairly seething with party ideas that are gay, easy inexpensive.

Maybe its a Shipwreck Party. Guests come as "survivors" wearing tattered shirts and shorts, beach pajamas, swimming suits. Hostess hands out clues for a Salvage Hunt. Floating S.O.S., Humpty Dumpty, Hobo's blanket, Captain's Companion.

Or a Merry-Go-Round Jamboree where the kitchen's turned into a wayside diner. Guests draw for the privilege of donning a chef's cap and apron, serving hamburgers to order.

Or even a Jamaica Gingeree. Soft yellow lights and red and yellow paper flowers turn the house into a sun-drenched Caribbean Island. And there's a Gingerbread Ice Breaker to get everyone acquainted.

Our 32-page booklet maps out dozens of merry evenings' invitations, decorations, Easy to fix refreshments. Brand new ice breakers, stunts, games.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "What's New in Parties" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

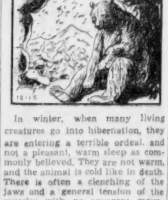

Viola Berreth of Torrington was flower girl.

Best men were Mr. George Schroth and Mr. Arthur Bauer.

Over 100 guests offered their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bauer at a reception arranged following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Bauer.

Following a honeymoon in Calgary and the south of the province Mr. and Mrs. Bauer will make their home near Torrington.

Debunker

In winter, when many living creatures go into hibernation, they are entering a terrible ordeal, and not a pleasant, warm sleep as commonly believed. They are not warm, and the animal is cold like in death. There is often a clenching of the jaws and a general tightening of the muscles with no apparent movement. Breathing is almost imperceptible; the heart all but stops; the blood scarcely flows, and a wasting of the body goes on. The animal does not yawn and turn over in a pleasant bed. He is all but dead, and if the terrible ordeal is survived, he may emerge again into pleasant life in the Springtime.

During the last ten years, motor car registrations throughout the world have increased 45 per cent. It is estimated that there is now one car for every 46 persons in the world.

Young-Minded Bright Wool Dirndl Dress For Under-Your-Coat

A young bright raspberry woolen dress that will give loads of dash under-your-dark coat. It has the new "doll waist". Its shag-swirl skirt will get you lots of tea-dancing invitations. The little girl collar is crisp white pique. A regiment of bone buttons parade right down the back from neck to hem. A clan plaid woolen is another ideal choice for school, college or office wear. Again, it's adorable for afternoons and cocktail wear in the square neck version of crush-resistant velvet or of rayon and silk moire. Try so simple and inexpensive to make it.

Style No. 2920 is designed for sizes 13, 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38-inch bust. Size 16 requires 4¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 27-inch contrasting.

BOVRIL
has the goodness of prime beef and that is why it builds strength for you: TRY IT!

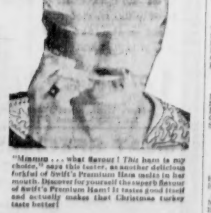

This Christmas, serve the ham that blindfold tests prove

FIRST FOR FLAVOUR . . . !

Identified only by number, three leading brands of ham were sampled by critical tasters. One of the three hams, Swift's Premium, was voted FIRST for FLAVOUR by over 3/4's of the tasters!

To the unique, distinctive flavour that is Swift's Premium Ham's own, has now been added the melting tenderness of spring chicken! That makes Swift's Premium the grandest-tasting ham ever for your Christmas dinner. Plan now to serve Swift's Premium Ham, with or without fowl, to your holiday guests!

Swift Canadian Co., Limited.

"Mmmm . . . what flavour! This ham is my choice," says this taster, as another delicious forkful of Swift's Premium Ham melts in her mouth. Discover for yourself the superb flavour of Swift's Premium Ham! Is tender good itself and actually makes that Christmas turkey taste better!

SWIFT'S PREMIUM HAM

Please advance orders now! Avoid disappointment. Your grocer has Swift's Premium Ham in this new Christmas wrapper. Get your order in right away for happier holiday meals. Swift's Premium Ham is grand for Christmas eating, too!

CANADA'S CREDIT BALANCE SHOWN AT $218,200,000

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Canada had a credit balance in international payments during 1937 of $218,200,000, according to a report released Wednesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The Dominion had a credit balance in its external trade in merchandise of $213,300,000. In other words, the goods exported exceeded the goods imported in value to that amount. Gold exports brought Canada a balance of $145,000,000 and in the tourist trade the amount spent in Canada by visitors of other countries exceeded the amount spent by Canadians abroad by $170,300,000.

Interest and dividends paid by Canadians to security holders outside Canada exceeded the interest and dividends coming into Canada by $246,200,000, and were the largest debit item. The balance on freight service payments was also against Canada, producing a debit of $25,500,000 and miscellaneous services account produced a debit of $38,700,000.

Broomhall

There was general short covering in the U.S. yesterday afternoon. The constant buying by the U. S. of cash wheat is absorbing the offerings and checking the decline. Cash wheat premiums in Western Canada advanced and there is apparently no change in the Argentine holding policy, although Uruguay has also fixed a minimum price to farmers on this season's crop. There was a sale yesterday to Liverpool of Uruguayan new wheat, 63½ pounds, for Jan. shipment at 59 cents a bushel c.i.f. The Argentine wheat futures market on the old crop position declined while most other markets advanced. This position is now 11 cents a bushel under the new crop. A sale was made to Liverpool recently of this old Plate wheat at 64 cents, c.i.f. If the Argentine government has signified its willingness to co-operate with other exporting countries in maintaining a fair price, it has transgressed from its customary policy.

WHEAT HAS TO BE CHIEF CROP PRAIRIE ZONES

Will Continue To Be Biggest Production Soils Expert Says

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15. — Whether western agriculturalists like it or not, wheat will continue to be the chief production of the 64,000,000-acre area spread across the three prairie provinces and which is subject to occasional drought, Dr. F. A. Wyatt, soils expert of the University of Alberta, declared Wednesday before the prairie markets conference.

While not all that area was under cultivation, by the nature of the soil and climate wheat had to be the main production there, he said. Dr. Wyatt urged conservation of soil fertility in central Alberta wheat areas by greater rotation of clover crops—which involved increased livestock to consume the clover.

In central Alberta farmers were using 50 per cent cultivation of wheat at present but should be "compelled" to use 50 per cent clover.

SIMILAR PLEA

Prof. J. H. Ellis of the University of Manitoba made a similar plea for conservation in Manitoba where only one-seventh of the province was good land and practically all the usable land was already under cultivation. Dr. J. Mitchell of the University of Saskatchewan analysed the Saskatchewan soil situation similarly.

Dr. Wyatt said there were "extensive areas" available in Alberta for crops, if and when they were needed. While no exact figure could be given, he estimated the available area at about 12,000,000 acres.

INVOLVES EXPENSE

Putting that land under cultivation would be expensive, however, for it would involve clearing, proper management and the use of fertilizer. It could be made to produce as much hay as the Saskatchewan park belt or as much wheat as the average western farm. Some countries produced much of their food on such lands by intensive cultivation and fertilization.

Dr. Wyatt suggested, also, a shift in production was necessary in the irrigated area of southern Alberta. Now growing 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, those lands had to be made more productive than wheat was, to pay for the irrigation.

Total acreage of wheat in Alberta had not changed much since 1930. Considerable new land had been brought into production but almost as much had been abandoned from production.

TOTAL ACREAGE

Total acreage under cultivation now is 17,725,000, while that under crops is 13,825,000.

In Manitoba, the arable land was mostly south and west of Lake Winnipeg, while livestock increased to the north and east. Analysis showed a net deficit of winter feed in the province unless the oat crop were included, which meant that if the oat and straw crop failed, there was a feed shortage.

Prof. Ellis said cereal production in Manitoba reached its peak in the 1920's. Since 1931, new acreage brought under cultivation was 1,250,000, but the total had not increased. Land had been retired because of drought and economic conditions, and also because it had ceased to be productive.

Chairman

W. R. McLAREN,

president of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion, who presided at Wednesday's meeting of the Legion.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, is a Cardston visitor, attending his constituency convention.

N. B. James, M.L.A. for Acadia, is a city visitor on constituency business.

Glen L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Social Credit Board, left Thursday afternoon for Lacombe where he will address a divisional conference of the Social Credit League during the evening.

Floyd M. Baker, M.L.A. for Clover Bar, left Thursday for Athabasca where during the evening he was scheduled to speak at a public meeting on the government's interim program.

Bank clearings for the week ending Thursday are $3,687,330.54, as compared with $4,020,102.25 for the corresponding period last year, the clearing house reported Thursday.

Wounded in the abdomen when the rifle he was carrying was accidentally discharged John Speakman, of Alder Flat district, near Wetaskiwin, died in Wetaskiwin hospital Wednesday evening. He leaves a wife and two children.

Three C.N.R. box cars, believed entered while they were being switched on the main line near the eastern city limits some time Tuesday night, were reported broken into, and a quantity of meat, packed and sealed ready for shipment, was removed from the cars.

Mild weather this month has caused street railway passenger totals to drop sharply, it was reported Thursday by Supt. Thomas Ferrier. On Saturday the total of passenger traffic was down approximately 10,000 from that of the corresponding Saturday in 1937, when an all-time record of 69,500 was registered. Total last Saturday was some 59,500.

ProPosal of Premier Aberhart that Alberta's borders be extended to the Arctic finds little favor among the occupants of the trading posts and mining camps in the north, it has been reported by northerners. They claim that the north now has no debt except the general Dominion debt, and have no wish to have Alberta's debt and problems "saddled on to us."

First of a number of shipments, a ton of clothing was shipped north from Edmonton over the Northern Alberta Railway for distribution at Peace Coupe, Grimshaw, Beaver River, Spirit River, and other centres in the Peace River country on Monday's train, it was announced by Rev. J. T. Stephens who has charge of the work which is being sponsored by the National Emergency Relief Committee of the United Church. Last year shipments exceeded 20 tons.

In 1906, while riding in a stampede in Calgary, Sergeant J. Treleven, 98 of the Lord Strathcona's horse, and who now lives in Springfield, Ont., lost a medal awarded him for distinguished service in the Boer War. Recently the medal was found on the streets of Calgary, Merton Atkin, employee of an insurance company in Edmonton, heard that the medal had been found, and thought he knew who it belonged to. He wrote Treleven, who said the medal was probably his. It will be returned to him.

Delegates representing groups in the North and South Saskatchewan divisions of the Alberta Social Credit League will meet at Scona Assembly hall on Friday for the annual meeting of the organization. The meeting will last throughout the day, with discussion of resolutions and appointment of delegates to the annual convention of the Social Credit League to be appointed.

His Canadian Airways' Junker monoplane "ARF" loaded to the top with express—most of it Christmas supplies—Pilot Alf. Caywood was northbound for Yellowknife Thursday. Jack Cronin of Canadian Airways, arrived in from Yellowknife with eight passengers, while Rudy Heuss, also of Canadian Airways, was expected southbound from Yellowknife. North Sawle was northbound from Fort Simpson en route to Aklavik.

HIS MAJESTY ASKED OPEN LEGION MEET

Premier Says Government House May Be Open To Royal Pair

Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League has requested that His Majesty King George VI, as patron-in-chief of the league, open provincial conventions in the four western provinces, on his visit to Canada next May, Alex. Walker, Calgary, provincial president and Dominion vice-president, told a meeting of the Edmonton branch Wednesday night.

Other visitors at the meeting were G. Petley, Calgary, provincial secretary, and T. O'B. Gore-Hickman, Red Deer. W. R. McLaren, president, was in the chair.

PREMIER REPORTS

A letter from Hon. William Aberhart was read, in which the premier indicated his willingness "to converse with the citizens of this province to see that everything is done for the comfort of Their Majesties, and if Government House is required I give you my assurance that it will be opened, decorated, and put in a condition suitable to the occasion." The letter was written by the premier in reply to a resolution presented to him on behalf of the Legion asking that Government House be re-opened for the visit of Their Majesties.

Activities of the Dominion command of the Legion, and the work of the service bureau were outlined by Mr. Walker, also changes in pension, legislation.

CONVENTION HERE

Alberta convention of the Legion, which His Majesty has been asked to open, is to be held in Edmonton, with the city's branch as hosts. Other than this, the Legion proposes to assist the government in the reception of Their Majesties but not to seek any special place in the plans.

George Gleave, first vice-president and chairman of the finance committee reported that during the past week the last of the debt to city merchans had been wiped out by the branch. Three years ago this debt was $9,600.

Nominations for offices in the branch, election to take place January 19, were made as follows: president, W. R. McLaren, George Gleave; first vice-president, P. Cowley, A. Fig, George Gleave, T. Cox, J. McLean, W. Irwin, R. C. Arthurs; second vice-president, W. White, P. Cowley, W. Irwin, R. C. Arthurs, J. McLean, H. Laing; executive, W. Irwin, P. Cowley, A. Riddell, W. Giffin, R. C. Arthurs, J. Scott, J. East, J. McLean, W. Rice, R. Merret, A. Colbert, J. W. McLeod, E. Goodenough, J. Little, T. Cox, J. McCarthy.

Two Silver Foxes Travel By Plane

Two of the most unusual passengers ever to ride out of the north were aboard Mackenzie Air Service's Bellanca "BKV" when it arrived at Blatchford Field in Edmonton from Fort Smith and points north Wednesday afternoon. They were two live silver foxes bound for a fur farm near Wetaskiwin. Besides the foxes the plane carried mail and five other passengers.

Problem

DR. G. M. LITTLE

city medical health officer, who informed the Health Board that the city's garbage disposal problem is increasing.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE WILL BE CONSIDERED

Problem Is Increasing, Dr. G. M. Little Tells Health Board

Dr. G. M. Little, city medical officer of health, will confer with City Engineer A. W. Haddow and city commissioners on the problem of garbage disposal. It was decided at a meeting of the board of health on Monday.

The rapid growth of Edmonton is making garbage a serious problem, the medical officer said in a report to the meeting.

The city must consider disposal of garbage either by incineration entirely or by dumping outside the city, where it will cause no nuisance to residents, Dr. Little said.

"At the present time, the bulk of garbage is disposed of by depositing in about ten dumps throughout the city," he said. "Persistent and bitter complaints come from residents in the vicinity of these dumps, most of which we must reluctantly class as justified on the grounds of nuisance and health hazard."

The incinerator at Mill Creek is not being used to capacity, the city engineer informed the board, but the increased length of haul and the trucks necessary to take all garbage to the incinerator would greatly raise the cost of garbage disposal.

The Inquiring Reporter

Ald. F. C. Casselman has suggested to the special committee investigating the question of redistribution of electoral districts that instead of having three voters' lists—one for civic, one for provincial, and one for Dominion elections—such as are used at present, one uniform list be prepared to be used at all elections.

"What do you think of this suggestion?" asked This Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter.

W. S. COMPSTON, accountant: I believe it is a very good idea. It would eliminate much of the cost of compiling useless additional lists such as we have at present, and would help to cut down the amount of red tape which clutters up our elections.

DAVE STIRTON, agent: It seems like a good idea at first glance. But it must be remembered that the compiling of those lists supplies a certain amount of work for many of our citizens and helps to lighten the burden borne by the relief department. While the cost comes out of the taxpayers' anyway, I believe that it is better to let people earn their keep than just to give it to them.

* * *

IAN INNES-TAYLOR, agent: I believe that it is the right idea. I know that there are many people now who do not vote merely because three separate lists confuse them. They are busy and often are unable to take off the time to find out whether they are on each list or not. By having just one list, voting would be made much simpler and I believe more interest would be shown in elections.

* * *

A. C. WOODMAN, accountant: While it is difficult to pass an opinion on such short notice, it would seem that such a consolidation would clear away much of the confusion now surrounding the question of voters' lists and elections. If it would save the taxpayers' money and help to lighten their burden, then I'm all for it.

Smart Returns

Major G. W. Smart, in charge of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals here, returned to the city late Wednesday in a Mackenzie Air Service plane piloted by Gil McLaren. Major Smart has been on a tour of inspection of R.C.C.S. posts in the northwest.

DAIRY PRODUCT MARKET BOARD IS NOW URGED

Cattle Breeders To Ask Ottawa To Regulate Canadian Exports

Establishment of an export marketing board to regulate butter and other dairy products will be sought by the Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders' Association, it being decided at the annual meeting to press the federal government to enact legislation creating such board.

Advantages to the producers would accrue from orderly market, it was stated, as it would be possible to maintain a more even price level in the home market.

UNIFORM LEGISLATION

The association will also seek the establishment of marketing board legislation similar to that in operation in British Columbia, and requested in a resolution that Hon. D. B. Mullen, provincial minister of agriculture, take the initiative in calling a meeting of the ministers of agriculture and producers of the three prairie provinces to discuss uniform legislation in this connection.

On the motion of J. Russell Love, Edmonton, the association will make representation to Ottawa in seeking protection for the dairy industry against importation of vegetable oil products, it being claimed that such products are rapidly displacing butter in Canadian kitchens for cooking purposes.

Appreciation of the federal government's efforts to increase the markets for Canadian dairy products was expressed in another resolution, which also asked that this service be extended.

W. C. Bissell, Viking, was elected president of the association, with J. Russell Love, Edmonton, as vice-president. Miss E. L. Holmes was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Directors elected were named on the executive committee: J. W. Horsford, Edmonton; S. C. Pritchard, Edmonton, and Ira Bilbery, Wetaskiwin. Mr. Bissell was named associate director to the Edmonton Exhibition Association, and representative of the association on the Alberta Livestock board.

BULL POLICY

C. A. Lyndon, provincial livestock commissioner, outlined the provincial bull policy, while Jack Byers, Calgary, Dominion government department of agriculture, told of marketing requirements in British Columbia and on Smithfield market, London.

TOBACCO PROBE INVESTIGATION MADE IN EAST

First step taken since the attorney-general's department started prosecution proceedings against Canadian tobacco firms operating in Alberta for breaking of the Combines Act last month was reported in Montreal Wednesday.

Two R.C.M.P. officers, one of them Det. Corp. S. C. Coggles of the Edmonton detachment, armed with a warrant signed by Magistrate A. I. Millar of the city police court here, searched the Montreal offices of W. C. Macdonald Inc. for several hours and then left the premises with some papers. Nature of the papers was not revealed, the news dispatch stated.

CHURCHMEN ARE BEING RUSHED TO MEDICAL AID

Two northern missionaries were being rushed to hospital from two widely separated points in the North West Thursday morning. They were a Roman Catholic missionary from Fond du Lac and an Anglican missionary from Fort Norman.

Pilot Louis Bisson, pilot to the Oblate Fathers, Roman Catholic missionary order, left Fort McMurray Wednesday afternoon in the mission plane for Fond du Lac. With him in the place was Father J. P. Ellmann, of the Oblate hospital at Fort McMurray, who will care for the sick missionary at Fond du Lac until they return to McMurray. Bisson was expected to arrive back at McMurray about noon Thursday.

Meanwhile Pilot Archie McMillan, Mackenzie Air Service, is reported at Fort Norman, and was expected to start southwards for Edmonton Thursday morning with an Anglican missionary from Fort Norman who was suddenly taken ill and is also in need of hospital attention.

Mining Man Says North Looks Good

A. E. Kipps, Toronto mining man, arrived in Edmonton from Goldfields on Wednesday afternoon in a plane piloted by Gil McLaren of Mackenzie Air Service. He left for the east Wednesday evening. Conditions in the north seem very promising and work on the Negus mine in which he is interested is progressing very satisfactorily.

Through The Mill

When he appeared last week, on a charge of cutting Christmas trees on city property, a man looked "scared stiff", and when he appeared again Thursday for sentence his expression hadn't changed a particle.

During the week's intermission he had cleaned up the branches and trees on the land, as ordered by the court.

Since he evidently did not know the land belonged to the city, he was given a suspended sentence of six months.

After appearing time and again on adjournment, a young man charged with stealing stolen property, a leather jacket, was given a suspended sentence of 12 months. The jacket, with several others, was reported stolen from the Great West Saddlery in August.

Sitting in a parked car on Jasper avenue in the brightly lighted downtown area in the evening, two men and a woman were having a friendly drink from a case of beer in the car, when John Law arrived and ran them in.

For illegal possession of liquor each of the men was fined $20 and costs, a further fine in the same amount going to one of the men charged with buying a liquor permit under a name other than his own. The woman, who also pleaded guilty to illegal possession, was remanded to December 29 for sentence.

Bunting another car to an intersection meeting on icy roads cost a motorist $15 and costs when he appeared on a charge of negligent driving. He pleaded guilty.

CHEQUE ARTIST IS ARRESTED

Gordon F. Potts, 21, of Saskatoon, was picked up by Detective Hugh Allen of the city police on the street Wednesday afternoon, taken to police headquarters, and booked on seven charges of uttering spurious cheques. Total amount of the seven cheques, passed in stores in the city, is $70.

Police said Potts had admitted passing the worthless cheques. He was scheduled to appear in city police court Thursday morning.

Have You Seen

Willis L. Evans, who is described as being about 35 years of age. He is believed to be engaged in fur farming in the vicinity of Edmonton and was formerly engaged in the business at Erskine. Any information concerning him should be forwarded to his sister, Mrs. Blacksmore, of 66 street, in Edmonton.

John S. Lane, 84, born in Buckingham, Missouri, last heard of in the Edmonton district in 1926, six feet in height, weight 225 pounds, hazel eyes. Any information concerning this man should be given to Edmonton police.

Patient Found

Male patient who escaped from Ponoka Mental hospital Tuesday afternoon was "picked up" by police at the home of his mother in South Edmonton Wednesday afternoon.

UNIFORM VOTE LIST IS URGED: COSTS POOLED

Alderman Casselman Presents Plan To Special Committee

Preparation of joint, uniform voters lists by the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments, with costs pooled between the three administrations, was urged by Ald. F. C. Casselman when he appeared before the special legislative committee investigating the whole question of redistribution Wednesday.

The committee sat at the government buildings, under the chairmanship of Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs.

Mr. Casselman appeared on his own and represented no organization. Others heard during the day were John D. Hunt, K.C., former law clerk to the legislature, clerk of the executive council and chief electoral officer, James East, representing the executive of the Alberta Labor Party, and S. A. G. Baron, M.L.A.

The committee had remained in session during the afternoon expecting representations from the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

RECEIVED LATER

When it was learned that the Chamber could not prepare its submissions in time it was agreed that they would be received at a later date.

The committee left on Wednesday night for Calgary, where it will sit Thursday. On Friday a sitting will be held at Lethbridge and next week the members will be back here to complete their work and draft a report for submission to the next session of the legislature.

In addition to Mr. Maynard, the committee consists of the following members of the legislature: D. M. Duggan, Alberta, Conservative leader; Gerald O'Connor, Edmonton, and the following Social Credit members: Herbert E. Ingrey, Drumheller; W. Allen Hamilton, Redford; R. Earl Ansley, Leduc, and Charles Holder, St. Albert.

Mr. Casselman, in his submission, urged that representation be by population.

He said that he found discrepencies between the averages of polls in the southern part of the province and those in the north.

He urged that if joint lists were prepared the costs should be kept to a minimum and there would be less confusion on voting days.

He suggested that set polling places be used for Dominion, provincial and municipal elections, so that people would get in the habit of knowing where to vote.

He expressed himself as being in favor of retention of the proportional representation system of voting.

Mr. Casselman also thought that it would be possible to work out multiple member constituencies.

Mr. Barnes, in making his representations, said that "we do not wish to go back on the present system, and we have never been used to anything but election of our members at large."

"Our ring in the next five years will show a great development and we should be looking to the future."

He suggested any reduction in seats in Edmonton, unless there was a reduction all over the province.

Elk Season

Season for hunting elk in the Pincher Creek game area has been extended to Saturday, January 14, according to W. H. Wallace, provincial game commissioner. An order-in-council authorizing the extension has been passed. The season, with other big game hunting seasons, was scheduled to close on Thursday, Dec. 14.

WRITING LETTERS

Here is a fine thing. There is nothing quite equal to the feeling of writing a letter that pleases your sweetheart and still won't stick you when you get to court.

Good letter writers are very scarce, probably because everyone hates to buy postage stamps.

When writing to a close friend, always write in a large flowing hand. In this way, after speaking of the weather and how little is doing, there is just room to squeeze in a closing paragraph about being in a hurry.

Everyone loves to hear from old friends announcing a visit. It is a great pleasure to think of them again, in spite of the fact that writing them back telling them not to come is such a nuisance.

Minute Make-Ups

Of course, you want your hair to look its best for holiday parties. And you can easily apply hair lacquer yourself when you haven't time to dash to the hairdresser. Work the spray with your left hand and press waves in place with your right. In a jiffy your coiffure is set!

IRREGULARITY SCHOOL VOTE SAYS PREMIER

Claims Tampering With Schools Requires Showdown

New election in the Jasper Place school district, to be held on Friday was made necessary through irregularities at the last election, which forced the calling of a new election and through no personal action of his, as was publicly charged on Wednesday, Premier William Aberhart stated on Thursday in commenting on the allegation that a new election was made necessary through his action.

The Premier in commenting on this allegation said:

May I be allowed to correct the impression given by last night's issue of the evening's paper regarding my part in the Jasper Place school election which takes place tomorrow.

"I should like it clearly understood that this election was not made necessary by the action of Premier Aberhart, but by the action of seven or more persons who were known to the returning officer to vote when they did not belong to the district and therefore had no right to vote.

"The investigation conducted by officials of the education department showed that glaring cases of irregularity had undoubtedly been carried on in the former election.

"I feel sure that Alberta citizens will not tolerate political skullduggery in connection with the school system and they will not blame me for ordering a new election when this was discovered.

"If we cannot maintain honesty and uprightness in connection with our schools and educational homes one must call for a showdown."

FLATBUSH MAN DISMISSED ON FORGERY COUNT

Oscar Carron, Flatbush district farmer, was found not guilty in supreme court Thursday by Mr. Justice V. F. Ewing on charges of forging a document and of uttering the document knowing it to be forged. He was defended by Neil D. Maclean, K.C.

The Crown charged that Carron on June 15 forged an order to secure delivery of wood to the prejudice of George Labby, district farmer.

The wood had been given Labby as payment of wages by Carron, but later Carron plowed 106 acres for Labby (while he was in hospital) and then redeemed the wood. Carron stated that he could not handle Labby's business since Labby's wife had signed an order making the release of the wood and that the latter was fond of drink and feared Labby might get part of the wood. Carron testified that he gained his liberty. He had acted in good faith on the order, he said.

Mr. Maclean, counsel for estate of Labby, charged that the crown had proceeded not been unable to collect a judgment due him by Carron on the lumber-planing deal.

BOAT CARRYING YULETIDE MAIL DOCKS IN EAST

Major shipment of Christmas mail and parcels from the Old Country totalling 19667 bags and probably the last before Christmas, will be unloaded from the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose when it docks in Halifax harbor Saturday, according to information received here.

It will take 10 hours to unload the mail which will be reloaded into a special mail train about 15 cars in length and rushed westward. Edmonton postal officials expect the first shipment of letters to arrive here about Wednesday or Thursday with the parcels following up one day later.

Meanwhile postal officials report that mail is still practically normal here.

Alberta Sales Best In West Motor Man Says

Business conditions in Alberta now seem to be the best in the west, J. W. Atkinson, Regina, regional sales manager for Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation of Canada observed here today.

Judging from sales reports and general activity in Alberta, he added, this province is the bright spot on the prairies.

Mr. Atkinson is accompanied on his trip here by A. R. Merry, Regina, regional sales manager of Chrysler Corporation of Canada Plymouth division.

They will leave the city after a brief inspection visit, Thursday night. They are at the Macdonald.

Last Post Sounds For Legionnaire

Last Post was sounded shortly after one p.m. Thursday, as the military service held for Harold Brady 67, of 11312 107 avenue, who died Tuesday, was concluded. Funeral rites were attended by members of the Canadian Legion and Rev. C. Sidney conducted the service. Graveside prayers were held by the Legion, with W. "Paddy" Griffin in charge. Pallbearers were: J. W. Taylor, J. O'Neil, M. Barnhouse, J. White, D. Mills, C. Busby.

Impure oil, rather than gasoline is the reason for the formation of most carbon on the motor.

SPECIAL TRAM SERVICE GIVEN STORE NIGHTS

Four-Minute Intervals To Be Maintained By Street Railway Department

special four-minute service on all main lines to accommodate shoppers will be provided on Saturday by the Edmonton street railway, it was announced Thursday by Thomas Ferrier, superintendent.

First of the "late shopping days" Saturday will have the four minute service from 2 to 6:30 p.m. and again from 8 to 11 p.m. for the evening shoppers.

The same service will be provided next week in the afternoons only on Thursday and Friday in the afternoon. On Saturday of this week, Thursday and Friday next week, stores remain open until 10 p.m.

On Saturday the last cars will leave for the south side at the end at 12:25 midnight from 101 street and Jasper and at 12 midnight for the Highlands, with a car at 12:30 for North Edmonton.

Special services are to be provided Christmas eve, New Year's Eve and Christmas Monday night, with final street cars on all lines leaving 101 street and Jasper at 2 a.m.

Randall Has Ton Of Mail, Freight For "Down River"

Loaded with more than a ton of mail and freight, Randall Hall of Mackenzie Air Service's Ballanca "BKY" was northbound from Edmonton for Fort McMurray with pilot Ben Randall at the controls Thursday morning.

Randall will unload here and at Fort McMurray under the load will be distributed to places dying to Goldfields, Yellowknife and Wrigley, Hudson and "the down river" posts.

Gil McLaren, also of Mackenzie Air Service, was northbound for Goldfields and Yellowknife with mail and six passengers: Mrs. C. Hornaby, Mrs. Steve Yanik and her two children, all for Goldfields, Mrs. Fred Fraser, for Fort Chipewyan, and Colin Bowen for Yellowknife.

Arriving in from the north with six passengers from the Consolidated plant at Goldfields Wednesday afternoon, Harry Winny, of Canadian Airways, was northbound again Thursday morning with two passengers and express. Passengers were Kay Ste. Marie, for Goldfields, and Harry Ingraham for Yellowknife.

Mercury Slumps But Forecast Is Still Unchanged

Local temperatures dropped slightly Wednesday and Thursday after setting a Thursday high of 36 above at 3 p.m. At 4 p.m. the mercury slipped to 30 above, and from that time to 9 a.m. Thursday it failed to rise over the freezing mark. Low temperature for the night was 21 above at 8 a.m.

"Fair, not much change," was the local forecast for Thursday.

Weather over the prairie provinces generally clear and calm overnight with temperatures ranging from 12 and 13 below, only subzero readings, to 26 above. Light snow fell at Dawson Creek.

Eight points in the far north recorded readings ranging from 10 below to four below. High temperature in the north was taken at Aklavik, where the mercury stood at 32 above. Temperature at Wabasca Lake was zero.

Stores Warned To Watch For Bogus Cheques

Edmonton merchants are being warned as a result of a number of worthless cheques passed recently in the city, police said Thursday.

"Merchants are being told that cheques usually bear their own cheque forms, and do not use counter cheques such as were being passed lately," the officers said.

"During the pre-Christmas rush, merchants seem to pay more attention to making a sale than to the money or cheques tendered in payment. A little closer look at these cheques would stop a lot of the complaints," the police officers continued.

FAIR EXHIBITS SELL PRODUCTS SWEENEY SAYS

Agriculturist Tells Breeders Of Alberta's Success At Shows

Through Alberta exhibits in the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, the province's surpluses in agricultural products are sold, it was stated by J. R. Sweeney, provincial deputy minister of agriculture at the annual banquet of the Alberta Horse, Swine, Sheep and Cattle Breeders' association, held Wednesday evening in the Corona hotel. The banquet was the social highlight of the annual meetings being held by these organizations here.

Quality is improved by competitive shows, and the better the quality of livestock raised by the farmer the better price he will receive for it, Mr. Sweeney said. This is the real purpose behind Alberta's interest in the show, he declared.

Those gathered for Alberta exhibitors at the Royal Fair numbered 492, the minister said, and he told of their victories in the Canadian International Hay and Grain Show in Chicago.

Several exhibitors who attended the dinner were introduced during the speaker's talk.

On behalf of the city, Mayor John W. Fry jr. welcomed the out-of-town guests. Dean E. A. Howes, dean of the department of agriculture of the University of Alberta was chairman.

Songs and readings were provided by Dr. Kenneth Neathy accompanied by Dennis Clayton and Jack Strachan.

AIRPLANE BASE ON RIVER GETS MAY'S APPROVAL

Originator of the river aviation base idea, W. R. May, O.B.E., superintendent here for Canadian Airways said his company would use the proposed base at no cost to the city for summer operations to the north.

Mr. May said he did not plan to stop using Blatchford field for winter operations and would continue to make some use of the Cooking lake aeroplane base.

Proposal of a combined airplane and seaplane base, using the river and large flats at the bend east of here, would be advantageous for northern operations. In a few years, it probably would be found wise to separate this flying from airline operations, he said.

Objections to the present lake base were its distance from the city its shallowness which still is in a freezing and its altitude which makes take-off difficult on cold days. Depth of water is another factor.

SHEEP BREEDERS ATTEND PARLEY HERE THURSDAY

Sessions of the Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Association opened in the council chamber, city hall, Thursday morning with S. C. Swift, president, in the chair. Attendance at the meeting was the largest in the recent history of the association.

During the morning session reports of the president and secretary-treasurer were adopted following which Dr. H. D. Sanford reported on the work of the National Sheep Committee.

Outcome of the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association which was organized by N. Curtis, Dominion government livestock representative, while C. D. Jacobson related facts about the increase of Canadian wools, illustrating his lecture by moving picture slides.

The need for a modern sheep policy in Alberta was the subject of discussion lead by W. S. Benson, Calgary.

Northland Planes Carry Big Loads Passengers, Mail

Planes carrying passengers, mail and express between Edmonton and the north were working at top speed Wednesday.

Ted Field was northbound from Carcajou Thursday morning with Transport plane with passengers, mail and express for the Peace River and Yukon.

Harry Winny of Canadian Airways, Hoidahl and Gil McLaren of Mackenzie Air Service, were all bound for Edmonton with passengers, mail and express from the north.

Buddy Hesse of Canadian Airways and Al Brown of Mackenzie Air Service, were northbound.

Archie McMullen, Mackenzie Air Service, was southbound with a sick missionary from Fort Norman for Edmonton.

Coca-Cola Workers Get Special Bonus

Workmen and employees of the Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Limited, have received an additional one month's wages in appreciation of faithful and loyal services, it was reported from the company's head office in Toronto Thursday. Coming at this time of the year honorary trade should be stimulated by this action, and Edmonton merchants and the entire community will be benefitted as well as the employees themselves, the company perceives.

High School Operetta Is Delightful Musical Treat

eight ragamuffins headed by their chief introduced themselves to a first night audience when the Victoria High School Musical Club presented Otto M. Carrington's comical "Pirates of Hawaii" Wednesday evening.

Directed by Mr. W. R. Baker, the operetta will be heard Thursday and Friday.

STORY

Setting of the musical comedy is in that land of romance and languor, Hawaii, where Dorothy, a school girl, loaned, writes her young friend Jack a letter telling of her friends in the U. S. A. She tells Dorothy from Billy Wood the gentle-man of mystery which explained that instead of coming to the school disguised as college professors, he and his gang still carried on as pirates. The letter is intercepted by the nosy, prim, head of the school, Miss Primer, who decides to keep the news to herself and foil the plans of the young people.

In the meantime, Fate steps in and supplies the plot with a band of Hawaiian natives which explains that instead of coming to the school disguised as college professors, he and his gang still carried on as pirates. The letter is intercepted by the nosy, prim, head of the school, Miss Primer, who decides to keep the news to herself and foil the plans of the young people.

With crooks who become cooks, Billy Wood (Ken Ogilvie) and the real pirates and their aided in escape by Dorothy; Miss Primer who falls in love with the pirate chief, who in reality is a very honest man; and the entire crew becoming law-abiding citizens, the performance ended with a happy finale.

CHARACTER ROLE

Burnadette Gunnilson plays a delightful Dorothy, opposite Billy, so played by Kendal Young. Their young affair was blended well in their duets and gave sparkle and life to the operetta.

Eileen McDonald played the role of Miss Primer, and brought much to her part. At times her voice was a little sweeter than the role called for but these will be a fault, and made her singing that much better.

Don Warner as the pirate chief gave outstanding singing, and his pantomime was on a high level, at times conveying more than the actual lines rendered.

Among his chief, Scary, the second in command played by Joe Shooter was realistic in his role of the braggart whose loud tongue and

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTION

Question 50: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	7

You pass and hold:

♠ A Q J 9 4 ♥ A J 10 8 7 ♦ 6 ♣ J 9

What call do you make now?

Answer: You should bid three spades. It seems very good to you that your partner has a good deal of strength or game-going potential. You would bid first one spade, then two hearts, on a holding such as

♠ A 10 8 6 2 ♥ K 10 9 7 4 ♦ 6 ♣ 4 2

The difference between your action and that of a player who would bid only two spades is a jump of 20 points demerit for 2 hearts, 10 points bonus for bidding 3S, 10 points demerit for any other call, including a pass.)

A pamphlet containing all questions and answers, demerits and credits of the self-rating examination, and also announcing the few changes in the Culbertson system for 1939, will be mailed free of charge to any reader requesting it. Write to Ely Culbertson, care of this newspaper, plainly printing your name and address, and inclosing a 2 cent stamp.

TODAY'S HAND

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: At the city Athletic club of New York all bridge players fall into two categories—the "eagles" and the "sparrows." You presumably judge from the appellations which of these is considered the superior one. Life is very drab for the sparrows. Nothing ever happens to them. They just have to "take" it from the eagles.

"As a full-fledged member of the lower class, I wish to relate to you a hand which I feel should be given wide-spread publicity.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ A Q 9 8 ♥ A ♦ A K 8 ♣ A K 4 3 2
WEST ♠ 10 7 6 4 2 ♥ 10 9 6 5 ♦ Q 7 5 ♣ J 7 10		EAST ♠ None ♥ K Q J 8 3 ♦ J 10 9 4 3 ♣ Q 9 8 5
	SOUTH ♠ J 5 3 ♥ K Q 8 6 4 ♦ 2 ♣ 6

"The bidding is not important particularly since it was made for it suffice to say that Northsouth staggered into the excellent contract of seven spades.

"When dummy was laid down the contract looked cold. West's opening of the club lead was won with the king, and the king of spades was played. Of course, East showed out of trumps on the first round and care had to be exercised. The ace of clubs was readily played, followed by the ace of hearts. Now two rounds of diamonds were led and the third diamond was trumped in the closed hand with the jack of spades. The king and queen of hearts now were played, two clubs being discarded from dummy.

"The six of hearts was led and West was forced to play a small trump as he was overtrumped in dummy. The club six was played from dummy and trumped with the ace. All West could do was throw a small trump. West now was hopeless, as dummy had a tenace over his 10-7 of spades with the Q-9.

"It is interesting to note that I have repeatedly tried to explain how West can be held trickless, but until the eagles of the club have played these up to the elements of the game I have not had a I shall now call them 'eagles' and 'sparrows' any way.

J. M. C., New York City."

No need for me to add anything to the above analysis. The line of play chosen was, of course, eminently correct, as declarer, after he won against the two trumps knew the finest was safe. Moreover, it was not thought that there were plus-ing himself in the wrong category and that if he is not a full eagle he is at least an eaglet.

Tomorrow's Hand

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ A ♥ A 10 7 6 4 3 ♦ 9 8 5 ♣ 10 9 3
WEST ♠ A K J 9 7 6 3 ♥ None ♦ J 8 6 4 ♣ J 7 4		EAST ♠ Q 10 8 5 ♥ Q 9 5 ♦ 10 2 ♣ A K Q 6

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

OLD NORTHMAN IS FELICITATED ON 89TH YEAR

Colin Fraser, Chipewyan, is Oldest Active Trader In Territories

From all parts of the North West Territories and Alberta congratulations were pouring in Thursday on Colin Fraser, grand old man of the north, at his Fort Chipewyan home, as he attained his 89th year. He is celebrating his birthday quietly with his sons and daughters and a number of grandchildren.

First to congratulate the famous "Peace River Jim" Cornwall, who wished the veteran many more happy days and termed him a great man in every sense of the word.

JASPER HOUSE

Born at Jasper House, where his father was official paper, to Sir George Simpson, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, Colin Fraser has figured all his life in the arts of hunting and trapping. He was known as one of the greatest shots in the north country and the best shot on wing in the territory.

He was also famous as a dog team driver and for many years was at the end of steel in Edmonton carrying the mail. He also gained fame on the Mackenzie river and Athabasca in the days of the Red River carts.

Early in life he took up the occupation of free fur trader, and gained for himself an enviable reputation as a fair dealer with Indians and palefaces alike. He is the oldest active trader in the territories today.

Hearing of the $10000 damage action brought by John M. Mullholland, Nahanni fur trader against Theodore G. Bartsch, Lew Bartsch Edmonton, and A. J. LaFlair, Nampa, was again applied by the trial court Wednesday before Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd. Damages are being sought for alleged wrongful and excessive seizure.

POKER GAME

Close friends of his tell that his greatest delight was a good game of poker, and recall with pleasure many long sessions in the Arctic when the world famous fur trader hausted rest up and resume the game. Win or lose Colin Fraser was the same. He enjoyed a game for the excitement he got out of it, with never a thought for losses or gains.

Not the least of Colin Fraser's enjoyment on this his 89th year will be the many gifts that are pouring in from his many friends.

CATTLE RANCH SURVEY BEING PUSHED AHEAD

OTTAWA, Dec. 15. An economic survey of cattle ranching in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia is being undertaken by the Dominion department of agriculture.

The marketing and the expansion of cattle industry in these provinces will be investigated under the supervision and conduct of the project, including the taking of records of the number of cattle, the work of the staff of the economics division of the marketing service and the range experimental station at Manyberries, Alta.

In the actual conduct of the survey, field enumerators with detailed forms will call on ranchers and obtain the desired information.

Information given by ranchers will be considered strictly confidential and will be used only in a manner that will not disclose identity. Preliminary reports on the survey will be issued as to progresses.

MEN MAY FIND NEED TO FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Dr. W. G. Hardy Outlines Parallels in Ancient, Modern History

Clash between democracy and oligarchy in the ancient world led to men even of moderate views being forced to take sides; in this bitter strife, Dr. W. G. Hardy, head of the department of classics, said Wednesday night, when speaking at the Philosophical Society.

[illegible] discussion was resolved, Dr. Hardy declared, [illegible] democracy today also may drive men who would prefer nothing more than living at peace to fight for their way of life, or else submit to be subjugated up by the aggressor, he submitted.

Studding his address with parallels between ancient and modern history, which he admitted might not be precisely exact but were interesting, Dr. Hardy pointed out how "disinterested moderate" sentiment

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

The Day After — Hot Chins — Big Chuckle

WEDNESDAY in Edmonton seems to have been pretty well taken up with hundreds of post mortems on the Wenstob-Martinez fight. It was the [illegible] of argument [illegible] sport fans meet. Off hand I can't remember [illegible] that produced so much talk on the following day.

Here is a cross-section of reactions that I gathered in 24 hours. They were supplied by such citizens as the garage man who filled my gas tank, the cop on the beat, the postman, the waiter who brings me coffee and cakes along with a new theory on economics, the man who sells me tobacco, and sundry acquaintances I bump into on the street.

Most of [illegible] the sensational knockout they had expected. All were [illegible] All were [illegible] pointing out that Martinez had the technique and experience to really extend the Albertan. A couple of the shrewder ones realized that it was the senor's clever defensive tactics that were responsible for slowing the action up a bit at times. All were unanimous in considering Wenstob's victory a big boost for the young Albertan's fistic rating.

About two-thirds of the above citizens wanted to know why certain [illegible] to pan a local boy making good in one of the world's toughest sports. All were disappointed in the showing of Eddie Shelton against King Kong Clayton—but all were eager to see just what Clayton can do when matched with a man who can step with him.

The Big Chuckle of the Day

THE [illegible] with both barrels and panning both Wenstob and Martinez. It so happens that this man is a bit of an athlete himself. One day last summer he turned in a performance that was absolutely putrid. Right afterward [illegible] print—not because [illegible] off days, I always [illegible]. This same man [illegible] to take.

F[illegible] of this torrid citizen [illegible] mix-up for a short time over his seat at the fight, but that he was [illegible] ringside. I could give this man's name, but I'm sticking to my policy of laying off personal attacks.

I make plenty of mistakes and have bum days—even like you and the other guy—but praise the saints these shortcomings are not blazoned to the world by printed and radiocast word. Most of us would travel via back alleys a lot of the time if they were. That is one reason I don't like to parade a hard-trying athlete for the public raspberry.

However, don't take from the above that I figured the Wenstob-Martinez fight or the two principals below par. I thought it was the best [illegible] night's affair here. The sole purpose of the foregoing is to give as fair and honest a picture as I can of what [illegible]. Justice demands that the boys being panned be given at least a fair break.

Calisthenics By Karakas Stops Clint's Close One

Mike Karakas, fast-moving goalie with Bill Stewart's champion Chicago Black Hawks, was caught in a fancy, but effective pose during a Black Hawk-Ranger game in New York. Clint Smith, Ranger centre, is the fellow speeding by nearest the camera, just after he had sent the puck in the direction of the Chicago goal. It can be seen just in front of Karakas' left skate and it didn't get any further, in that respect meeting the same fate as all the other shots Lester Patricks' boys fired. The game ended as a 1-0 win for the champs. That's Cecil Dillon (8) turning around to see what's happening, while in the background, looking this way, are Johnny Gottselig, of the Hawks, and Muzz Patrick, of the Rangers.

Agar, Carse, Chad Pace Scoring Spree

EDMONTON ATHLETIC CLUB'S strongest team in Junior Hockey League competition since the start of the regular schedule, dropped over the boards at the Arena last night and descended with crushing force upon the Maple Leafs, drubbing them by a 10-1 score.

The Clubmen were in rare form again. In administering their trouncing, the E. A. C. sent the Leafs into the defeated ranks for the first time this season. The trouncing did not, however drop Leafs from first place and they remain one game ahead of the E. A. C.'s.

In all previous scheduled games the E.A.C. sent out only half of its regular squad [illegible] Agar, Carse and Chad [illegible] Kreller, Patrick and Steffes with McGill, Simpson and McKay [illegible] blue and gold [illegible].

FIRST LINE COUNTS

E.A.C.'s first stringers set the pace and tallied five of the 10 goals between them. Bob Carse and George Agar netted two goals each while Chad belted home the other. Carse and Agar also rated an assist each. Elmer Kreller caught up with the scorers in the final period when he bulged the twine for two and the remaining goals were split up evenly. Jack Simpson, John McGill, and Paul Steffes rattled home one each. Walter Dutchak was the lone marksman for the Leaflets.

E.A.C. went out after a triumph at the drop of the puck. In two [illegible] ed up with Carse for a goal. But [illegible] Pug Young was serving time in the penalty box. Dutchak sifted through alone for his tally.

At half time Carse teamed up with pivot mate Agar to send E.A.C.'s ahead by one goal in the opener.

WIDEN LEAD

The winners increased their lead in the second frame to three goals. Simpson tallied the first on McGill's pass after Agar had been dealt a 10-minute misconduct penalty by Duke Keats who frowned upon Agar's untimely and certainly unethical chatter. Steffes then netted on a "gift" goal as Kenny McAuley pulled the puck into his own net by sheer accident. It was a tough break for McAuley who was playing, and did play, a great game between the pipes for the Leafs.

E.A.C. [illegible] the third period before they swept down upon the Leaf goal in a steady procession of three and four man attacks. They rattled the hemp behind the Leaf guardian six times in the 20-minute session.

Agar was the first to break [illegible] followed McGill [illegible] Pardee's pass. Carse [illegible] Kreller did a neat bit of [illegible] Kreller [illegible] and the score rested at that 10 to 1 for the Clubmen.

Edmonton Civics Click For Second Intermediate Hockey League Victory

EDMONTON Civics chalked up their second win in the Intermediate Hockey League last night as they downed University of Alberta Golden Bears 4-1 at the Varsity rink. They had previously defeated Capitals. It was the third straight loss in intermediate competition for the students.

There was little edge for either club in play last night. Civics were almost underdogs in offensive strength but had better finish around the net.

Capitals' win was a personal triumph for Dave Foster, husky Civic defence ace. Twice he roared down the ice to park the rubber behind McLaren and proved plenty tough to beat defensively. The other two Civic counters came on break-aways [illegible].

DRAKE EQUALIZES

Foster sent Civics into the lead [illegible] Walter Lunde's pass to beat McLaren from close range, but two minutes and seven seconds later Sammy Costigan flipped a pass to Verne Drake, who made no mistake about getting the red light to flash on behind Layetzke and even the score.

Determined to chalk up their first win, the Students forced the pace in the opening canto and both Darling and George Stuart forced Layetzke to save smartly. The Bears set an [illegible].

They faded so badly Civics kept sifting through to the goal-mouth and Dave Foster clicked for his second tally at the 16-minute mark—poking the puck behind McLaren when he failed to get rid of Don Stewart's hot drive.

Golden Bears cut loose with a sustained power play in the final canto in a desperate attempt to equalize that tested Layetzke several times. Grey McLaren also came in for a fair share of work in the Bears' net as he turned back Civic break-aways. But there was no stopping Civics in the last minute [illegible] they scored. Bob Gillies tallied the first goal while Johnny Colville accounted for the second.

It looked for a minute like the margin might be increased as Mc[illegible] face by Walter Lunde's stick, tore into the Civic forward half-way through the final canto. The officials finally settled matters by giving Lunde a minor penalty and awarding a penalty shot to Civics instead of banishing the Bears' goalie. McLaren had little trouble turning back the penalty shot.

Toronto Varsity Beats Californians

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—University of Toronto defeated University of Southern California 8-3 here last night in an exhibition hockey game that saw power conquered by polish.

The rugged coast team battered their lighter rivals to the ice throughout the contest but the shifty Blues sidestepped enough body-checks to rap in five goals in the first period, one in the second and two in the third. U.S.C. scored once in the opening frame and twice in the middle stanza.

The defeat was the first in five games for the Californians, majority of whom are students from Edmonton and Calgary.

Powerful Intermediate All-Stars Battle E.A.C. in Benefit Tilt Tonight

A TALENTED group of hockey players, tough opposition for any club, will take to the Arena ice against the powerful Edmonton Athletic Club Juniors in a benefit game tonight starting at 8:30. The game will provide Christmas cheer for many unfortunates.

The Intermediate All-Stars, picked by the managers of the three remaining squads in the Intermediate league, Civics, Capitals and Varsity Golden Bears have a wealth of material on their lineup. The Clubmen will have to be at top form to hold them in check.

Capitals placed seven players on the team and Civics five with two Varsity stalwarts being selected.

LAYETZKE IN GOAL

In goal will be Freddie Layetzke, brilliant netminder of the Civics who is enjoying one of his best seasons. Layetzke played with Edmonton Dominions last year.

Lammie and Wismer of Capitals will form one defence duo, while Bill Stark of the Golden Bears and Civics' Dave Foster get the other two bumping assignments.

Capitals potent Harry Walker-Pete Yannew-Howard Calvert forward line gets one call with Don Stewart, Mel Lunde and Walt Lunde of Civics forming another. The third attacking unit is made up of Varsity's Sammy Costigan and Gainers' Eddie Donald and Joe Caswell.

The E.A.C. squad will be at full strength with the single exception of starry defenceman Bob Pentland who is ill.

Harold McMasters is another one doing his bit for the Not Forgotten Fund. Harold plans to do a bit of advertising in his own inimitable way at the game tonight and has undertaken to donate half of his profits to the fund.

STATE LAW WILL STOP DUMB PLAYS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 15.—University of Arkansas alumni who no longer can take the strain of watching razorback football teams pass from inside their own 20-yard line want the legislature to save them from apoplexy.

The Arkansas Gazette said today "a powerful lobby" of graduates is being formed to force passage of a state law making it illegal for Arkansas teams to pass inside their 20. Fines of $5 to $25 would be imposed on the quarterback and head coach for each infraction, scaled "according to the outcome of the illegal venture."

Shields Is Signed By Haven Eagles

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 15. — Management of the New Haven Eagles of the International-American Hockey league announced last night they had signed Allan Shields, 30-year-old defenceman who had served 10 years in the National league. He played last year with Montreal Maroons.

Margot Wins

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Dec. 15—Margot Lumb, outstanding British tennis and squash player, won the ninth annual Atlantic Coast women's squash racquets championship Wednesday with an easy victory over Anne Page of Philadelphia, defending titleholder, 15-8, 15-8 and 15-11.

CARSE TAKES SEVENTH SPOT SCORING DOPE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 15—Kilby McDonald, of Philadelphia Ramblers, retained his head position in the race for individual scoring honors in the International-American Hockey league. He was credited with 27 points.

Norm Locking of Syracuse, leader in the western division, remained in the league's runner-up position with a total of 20 points, it was announced at headquarters [illegible].

LETHBRIDGE ACE LEADING ALBERTA SENIOR SNIPER

Edmonton's Martel Tops Eskimo Players

Pete Ettinger Is Big Seven's Bad Man With a Total of 30 Minutes Spent in the Penalty Box

CALGARY, Dec. 15.—Lethbridge's ace sharpshooter, Bob Kirkpatrick, who learned his hockey in Saskatchewan, scored one goal and assisted in six others to keep at the top of the Alberta Hockey League scoring averages with 14 points, four ahead of his team-mate, Ken Stewart, and Max Bentley of Drumheller. Top Edmonton scorer is Romeo Martel with eight.

In nine days of high scoring, Bob Kennedy of Drumheller equalled Kirkpatrick's feat of seven points, getting four counters nad three assists. Stewart, Max Bentley and his brother Reg, also of Drumheller, got six points each since Dec. 6.

Pete Ettinger of Edmonton became the league's "bad-man," having served 30 minutes and Bill Gauf of Olds came next with 18 minutes in the pen.

Official scoring averages released today by League President Jim deZeeuw follows.

LONDON GIVEN WINTER GLORY BY CANADIAN

LONDON, Dec. 13—In this damp metropolis where a snowstorm comes once in a blue moon and is about as substantial as dandruff on a blue suit, a Canadian is being hailed the creator of winter.

He is suave Armand Vincent of Montreal, whose $150,000 Winter Cavalcade at Earl's Court is the biggest sport promotional venture ever staged under one roof in Britain.

It is a large-scale international indoor winter sports display with trimmings. The program includes a snowstorm, skiing, ski-jumping and snowshoeing competitions, and a French revue of 100 chorus girls.

EXPECT 12,000 NIGHTLY

Twelve thousand spectators including members of the Royal family are expected nightly to watch the big show, staged on a full sized snow-covered ski run with a realistic scenic mountains in the background.

Beer Paaske, floor manager, Norman Gagne, ski jumper, and Chief Poking Fire, Louis Thoral, Peter Gavuzzi and Dan Cunningham, snowmakers, are other Canadians taking part. They are all from Quebec.

IT AGED ARMAND

Getting the show over—first to the Earl's Court directorate and then to the public—"was really tough on me," said Vincent. But his show, coming after promotion of the Montreal Canadiens—Detroit Red Wings European tour last spring, has won him a seven-year contract with Earl's Court. The contract includes the winter shows, professional hockey, boxing and pageants.

The shrewd English and canny Scottish directorate told Vincent they didn't like to see the show going to waste after the big show, so the enterprising French-Canadian advertised skiing lessons and put his cast of skiers to work as instructors. He built a nursery slope and taught London how to ski, charging $1.25 a lesson.

To put the final stamp of appeal on his venture, he ordered two small pairs of skis and poles and sent them to Buckingham Palace for the royal princesses with an invitation to take advantage of London's only snowy slide. The royal lessons will be given in closely guarded privacy.

Believe It Or Not — By Robt. Ripley

LINGUIST OF THE FIRST MAGNITUDE: Prof. Rasmus Christian Rask (1787-1832) of the University of Kobenhavn, Denmark, was a linguist of the first magnitude, with an extraordinary capacity for learning a foreign language in a short time. He wrote dictionaries of the following languages: Friesian, Iberian, Armenian, Icelandic, Lapp, Finnish, Zend, Tractia, Singhalese, Guinea, Aquannbuit, Aleutian, Greenlandish, Yakut, Sanscrit, Persian, Lithuanian, Latvian, Albanian, Gaelic, Grusinian, Faroe, Gothic, Basque, Pehlevi, Hindustani, Malay, Celtic. He knew Danish, Swedish, German, Russian, Italian, Spanish, French, Portuguese, Turkish, English, Greek, Latin, Norwegian, Arabic, Hebrew, more than 30 Indian idioms, in addition to 146 other idioms and tongues. His knowledge of languages was vastly more extensive and more profound than that of the wonder linguist, Mezzofanti.

TIGERS, NIGHT HAWKS CAPTURE CAGE TITLES

Night Hawks hurdled the last obstacle that stood before them in their march to the championship of the senior section of the Y.M.C.A. House Basketball League last night as they walloped Meteors 79-43 in a fast, thrilling hoop final. It was a sudden-death tilt for the senior crown and the fifth straight win this season for the Hawks.

Meteors made a gallant bid for the title and only slipped after Henry Richards was forced to leave the floor via the four-personals route. The hard-checking game produced a large number of fouls, 15 being called on Meteors and 13 against the Hawks.

Henry Hartel lead the champions with 20 points, while Harry Merton and Wilf McLean accounted for 16 and 15 respectively. Harold Russell with 10 and Frank Richard with 15 led the Meteors.

TIGERS SURPRISE

The Junior section produced a real upset as Tigers walloped the highly-favored Y-Amis 43-36 to take the honors for that section. Y-Amis were undefeated in the regular league games but Tigers made no mistake last night, taking a 16-14 lead in the first half and keeping up the pressure for a well-deserved win.

Alf Edwardson was outstanding for Tigers, marking up 20 of their points, while Doug Deans turned in a fine defensive game. Frank Hetteli and Don MacIvor each tallied 11 points for the losers.

Officials for the games were Reg Campbell and Ed Tomick.

YANKS VOTED OUTSTANDING SPORTS SQUAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—New York Yankees, missing a perfect score by only nine points, Wednesday were selected as the outstanding United States sports team of the year by an overwhelming margin.

The American league baseball champions, who went on to set a new record by beating Chicago Cubs in four straight games for their third successive world series victory, were named first by 61 of 67 contributing sports editors, with three votes each for second and third.

On a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third, this gave the Bronx Bombers 192 points of a possible 201.

The six votes for No. 1 team that didn't go to the Yanks were split up among three football teams the lone woman's nomination to figure in the eighth annual Associated Press poll. Edmonton Grads, Canada's world champion basketball team.

Vergez Manager For Oakland Club

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 15. — Johnny Vergez, former major league third baseman, was named Wednesday as the playing-manager of the Oakland Pacific Coast league club for 1939.

He played with New York Giants and later Philadelphia Phillies. He succeeds E. J. Zwilling who will manage Birmingham of the Southern association next season.

Phillie Ramblers Win Speedy Clash

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15. — Philadelphia Ramblers beat Pittsburgh Hornets last night 1-0 in one of the fastest games of International-American League hockey seen here this season.

Lloyd Roubell scored the lone marker during a mixup in front of the Hornets' net in the second period, but Bert Gardiner, Ramblers' goalie, was given the second star for the victory because of his 40 stops.

Majors Agree on Bail: American Adopts Lights

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Baseball's big leagues Wednesday agreed on a uniform ball and introduced night ball in both circuits for the 1939 season.

Whiles rumors of impending trades still were heard, each of the two leagues gave some ground in their previous stand on the ball question, and finally agreed on a pellet for 1939 which will have the rabbit and increased stitching of this year's so-called "dead" ball of the National league, and the thinner cover of the American league's livelier missle.

The junior circuit passed a resolution introducing the night game to its league, and granted permission to Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics to start the arc-light business next season.

ATHLETICS LIGHT UP

Indians, with a partial lighting system already erected in Cleveland Municipal stadium, will spend about $60,000 to complete it in time for the 39 campaign. Connie Mack will invest some $100,000 in a plant for the A's Shibe Park.

With the Philadelphia park equipped, it is likely the Phillies, who now play in the same stadium as the A's, will join Cincinnati Reds and Dodgers in performing under the lights in the National league.

SAME AS NATIONAL

The American league passed a resolution almost identical with that under which the senior circuit has been operating for two years. Each club wishing to play night baseball is permitted seven games in its home park a season, and must offer one night game to each other team in the league. No outfit can play more than two night games in any one rival's park a season.

The American League awarded Jimmy Foxx of Boston Red Sox $800 as the leading batter of the circuit. The Sox first baseman, staging a comeback after a poor season in 1937, clubbed the ball for a percentage of .349.

Chicago Cubs announced they had sold Herman "Cookey" Trophett, an outfielder, to Columbus of the American Association.

Kansas City Drops Veteran Wingman

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15. — Bill Grant, owner of the Kansas City American Hockey association club, gave Frank Ingram, of Regina, veteran right winger, his outright release Wednesday. Ingram has been with the Greyhounds three years and in the league 10 years.

Red Sox Trade Off Veteran Outfielder

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Eddie Collins, general manager of Boston Red Sox, announced last night he had traded Ben Chapman, veteran outfielder, to Cleveland Indians for Pitcher Dennis Galehouse and Infielder Tom Irwin.

TWO SENT UP FOR HEARING AFTER THEFT

Safeway Store Hold-Up Pair Committed For Trial By Magistrate

William Wesley Killik, alias Jack Woods, and Herbert Neumann, charged with the theft of $60 in currency from the Safeway Store at 106 avenue and 97 street during a hold-up November 12, were committed for trial to the supreme court when they appeared before Magistrate A. L. Millar in city police court Thursday for preliminary hearing.

Neumann, who is pleading guilty to the charge, told of the travels of the pair since they left Edmonton in Neumann's car for a trip to eastern Canada. Returning to Calgary, Neumann said that Killik had then suggested going to Edmonton for some "easy money".

After looking over the 107 avenue and 124 street branch of the Safeway Stores, Limited, the pair drove to the 97 street store, arriving at a few minutes after six, said Neumann. Following the robbery, in which Neumann scooped out the till while Killik held a "phoney gun" on store employees, the two men got in the car and drove away.

After dividing the money and destroying an endorsed cheque for $72.80, which was also taken, they separated.

Killik started for Calgary on foot, and Neumann picked him up in his car near Leduc.

During the hearing Killik leaned on one elbow in the prisoner's dock, watching the proceedings, expressionless.

Because Neumann's evidence was involving Killik, Neumann's counsel made application that the two be kept separated until trial in the higher court. The application was granted.

Sol Kipkind, manager of the store, described the holding up and the man, one tall and one short, who committed the act.

Early each spring, termite kings and queens emerge, equipped with wings, and fly away to mate and found new colonies.

Experts Not of One Mind Over Gauging of Turner Vale Resources

CALGARY, Dec. 15.—Difference of opinion on means of gauging oil resources of Turner Valley developed before the McGillivray Oil Commission Wednesday in examination of Stanley J. Davies, Calgary geologist, by Dr. B. B. Bostright, petroleum and natural gas engineer of Houston, Texas.

Dr. Bostright suggested to Mr. Davies the gas-oil ratio—the amount of gas required to raise oil to the surface—was not a sound method of estimating reserves. Mr. Davies thought the ratio method important as Turner Valley field, 45 miles southwest of Calgary, was concerned.

ON RATE OF FLOW

They agreed the gas-oil ratio depended primarily on the rate of flow of wells. Mr. Davies said the Turner Valley oil production always was variable.

Extensive discussion on technical operations, effects of gas pressure at the bottom of wells etc., marked the afternoon session. "The way some of the crude oil wells are operated is terrible," commented Mr. Davis when discussion centred on production of wells.

Mr. Davies will be on the stand again when the commission resumes its session tomorrow with Edmonton adjournment will be taken before the end of the day for the Christmas-New Year holidays.

PERMISSION GRANTED

With permission being granted Anglo-Canadian Oils Ltd., to bring two authorities to submit evidence on future life of Turner Valley, J. F. Fowler, K.C., commission counsel, said he did not intend to recall Dr. Bostright to give rebuttal evidence on the Valley's resources until after they were heard.

Mr. Davies is expected to be the last witness in the case and the adjournment until after the new Year.

Lake Skipper Dies

CHATHAM, Ont., Dec. 15.—James A. Gunn, 44, master of the freighter Alexander Leslie of Ericau, died here yesterday following an illness. He was the only pilot on a lake freighter who took his boat into any harbor without use of a tug.
